3 States Hold Elections

By DAVE GOLDBERG
Associated Press Writer

Rhode Island, South Dakota and Montana took their turns today in the 1976 presidential primary sweepstakes with the spotlight on the continuing effort to keep Jimmy Carter from the Democratic nomination.

The Republican race between President Ford and Ronald Reagan also continued in the three states, where the primaries provide a warm-up for the big ones next week in California, Ohio and New Jersey.

There were 56 Democratic delegates and 59 on the Republican side at stake today, compared to 540 and 320 next week. Ford and Reagan in particular toned down their campaigns over the Memorial Day weekend in preparation for a bigger effort for next week.

But Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California and Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona all made substantial efforts to halt Carter, who went into today's contests with 883 of the 1,505 delegates needed for nomination. Udall, who is second, had 301.5.

Church and Brown concentrated on Rhode Island, which had 22 Democratic delegates at stake, although Brown could count only on write-in votes in the popular vote contest and uncommitted states in the separate delegate selection. Udall campaigned in South Dakota, which has 17 votes at the Democratic National Convention.

Church said he hoped to win in Rhode Island and added: "I feel a surge coming my way and I know I'm gaining strength." He said Carter's trip into the state was indicative of that.

But Carter said Monday he came to Rhode Island to see his wife, who was stumping the state, and in what he said was an effort to increase the turnout and thus increase his vote.

"Although the state is small, it's a key state as far as the timing of the primary is concerned," he said.

Udall said much the same thing about the timing of the South Dakota primary, where he hoped to score his first clear-cut victory in a year that has seen him finish second seven times, most often to Carter. Udall was endorsed by both South Dakota senators, George McGovern and James Abourezk, and said: "If I win in South Dakota I'll have the momentum to win in Ohio, and if I win there, we'll have an open Democratic convention."

Church, meanwhile, was expected to do well in Montana, next door to his home state of Idaho, where he won last week with over 80 per cent of the vote.

The Republicans award delegates according to a formula that rewards states that have voted for the party in the past, and smaller and more rural states often get bonuses from it. South Dakota and Montana have 20 delegates each and Rhode Island 19.

Neither Ford nor Reagan campaigned in any of the three, Reagan concentrating on his home state of California and Ford remaining in Washington after a trip to the West Coast last week.

Also on tap was a Senate primary in Mississippi, where Sen. John C.

Stennis is seeking nomination to a sixth term. He was a heavy favorite over E. Michael Marks, a political unknown who campaigned in 82 counties.

In other political developments

Monday: —McGovern, the party's 1972 presidential nominee, fired two top staff aides who were identified as leaders of a movement to stop Carter.

McGovern said he wanted no part of such a movement and added: "The fact that I have endorsed Congressman Udall in the Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Michigan and South Dakota primaries does not mean I will permit my office to become involved in an 'Anybody but Carter' movement."

—Thomas B. Curtis, former chairman of the Federal Election Commission, said he is endorsing Reagan for president because of Ford's action in signing new FEC legislation which Curtis found faulty. Curtis said he would work for Reagan in his home state of Missouri, which he once represented in Congress.

—Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., said in Berkeley, Calif., he believes Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts would accept the presidential nomination "under the right circumstances" and that Kennedy would accept the No. 2 spot on a ticket headed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

Kennedy has said consistently he would not run for president this year.

—Rep. Tom Steed, D-Okla., a longtime friend and colleague of House Speaker Carl Albert, said Albert may have "had enough" of Washington and forecast he will not run for another term.

Albert was not available for comment, but has said previously he had not decided whether to run for re-election.

Buckeyes Hear Candidates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three Democratic presidential candidates took time from campaigning for today's three primaries for a little old fashioned Memorial Day politicking in the Buckeye State.

With an eye to Ohio's primary election, one of the final Big Three primaries a week from today, former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, Arizona Rep. Morris Udall and Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, all spent time in the state Monday shaking hands, kissing babies and plotting strategy.

Udall and Church both planned a full day of campaigning in the state today.

Carter, in Cleveland briefly between campaign visits to Rhode Island and South Dakota, stopped at an adult slow pitch softball tournament in Brook Park.

The former Georgia governor answered a question about the reaction of black voters to his campaign. "We've been doing very well throughout the country," he said. "The problem with the 21st District (Cleveland) is that Congressman Louis Stokes has a slate of delegates and he asked me not to run any delegates in his district."

"Well, we've been running delegates all over the country," Carter added. "But I didn't run against Gov. Wallace in Florida, I didn't run against Udall in New Hampshire, I'm not running against Louis Stokes, I'm running for president."

Udall also visited the Cleveland area, kissed babies and ate Polish sausage, but away from the crowds his strategists continued behind-the-scenes efforts to "smoke out" Carter.

Udall's efforts in the week before the Ohio primary will consist mainly of trying to get Carter to commit himself on issues on which Udall says Carter is ambiguous, aides to the Arizona Democrat say.

At a local parade, Udall briefly shared a platform with Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, a keynote speaker at the Democratic national convention, and Rep. James Stanton, D-Ohio, who is running for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate.

In a conference call to half a dozen Ohio news outlets from Providence, R.I., Church said if Carter is the Democratic presidential nominee, "I would have no trouble supporting him."

Church credited what he called his own issues-oriented campaign for his success in a poll which showed him gaining on Carter in Rhode Island.

D.C. Sex Scandal Impact Widening

WASHINGTON (AP) — Investigators are trying to draw a fine line between immorality and illegality in connection with allegations by Elizabeth Ray that other congressmen besides Wayne Hays were involved in sexual relations with House employees, a source close to the investigation says.

"We have to weed out the personal and moral improprieties from those which involve violations of the law," the source said Monday, emphasizing: "We don't care who's sleeping with whom."

Requiring an employee to provide sex as part of her job could violate a law against misuse of federal funds.

"She (Miss Ray) has named other congressmen" involved in sexual activities with female House employees, the source said Monday, "but the question remains: Did the taxpayer foot the bill?"

With Congress returning today, there was expected to be new pressure on Hays to resign as chairman of the House Administration Committee and the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee.

House Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill has said he will tell Hays that some members of Congress think his problems may have a direct impact on their efforts to win re-election.

"The institutional integrity of the Congress is at stake," said Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W.Va. "The presumption of innocence, a fundamental American principle, must not blind us to the fact that serious charges appear to be unanswered and unexplained."

But Rep. James Corman, D-Calif., said simply: "I don't want to see Wayne get hung prematurely."

Meanwhile, it was learned that Rep. Mendel Davis, D-S.C., is being questioned in the investigation. Davis hired Miss Ray last summer on the recommendation of Hays, a Democrat from Ohio. Miss Ray said she did no work and was on the government payroll only as Hays' mistress.

It was not known if Davis was questioned about matters beyond his decision to hire Miss Ray.

Hays has admitted asking Davis to hire Miss Ray. He also acknowledges later hiring her for his House Administration Committee staff but said she was hired to be a secretary and nothing else.

Davis was in South Carolina on Monday, and could not be reached for comment.

Miss Ray is likely to appear this week before a federal grand jury investigating the matter. She has been granted immunity from prosecution to testify. Hays may be invited to testify voluntarily before the grand jury.

Miss Ray already has told federal investigators she knows of six other women whose congressional jobs involved providing sex to congressmen or their constituents, sources have said.

Prosecutors must determine two things: Whether the stories are true and whether they involve criminal activity.

Criminal Code Overhaul Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bill S1, the massive attempt to overhaul and codify federal criminal law, is dead for this session of Congress because of a deadlock between liberals and conservatives over key issues.

This is the conclusion of the bill's chief sponsors, Sens. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., and Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., and others closely involved in the long struggle over the measure.

About two months ago McClellan and Hruska offered concessions in an effort to overcome liberal objections, but they have had no response to indicate any agreement can be reached.

McClellan and Hruska have not abandoned all hope for Senate passage of the bill this year, but they see no chance for House action before the adjournment of Congress.

Senate passage would enhance the possibility of final action in the next Congress, but there also is growing doubt that it is feasible to pass a bill of this magnitude.

One sponsor, Republican Leader Hugh Scott, said such controversial issues as government secrecy, the death penalty, wiretapping and obscenity may have to be handled on a piece-meal basis.

The bill marks the first attempt to consolidate federal criminal law into a single code, updating it in the light of court rulings, eliminating inconsistencies and obsolete and overlapping provisions.

The 799-page bill was approved last fall by the Senate Judiciary Committee's subcommittee on criminal laws chaired by McClellan. Hruska is the committee's ranking minority member. It has been stalled in the Judiciary Committee ever since.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield was joined by Scott on Feb. 9 in a memo to Judiciary Committee members urging a compromise.

In response to this leadership appeal, a trio of committee liberals — Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and James Abourezk, D-S.D., — submitted a list of what they called essential changes in the bill.

They said that if McClellan and Hruska would accept these, it would constitute "a first step in reaching some accord on the subject of criminal law reform."

To the surprise of many liberals, McClellan and Hruska agreed to drop a limited revival of the death penalty, to abandon tightening present laws against disclosure of classified information, and to make other major changes in the bill.

McClellan and Hruska said that some of the liberals' proposals were unacceptable as advanced but suggested they could be compromised.

Holiday Crashes Kill 18 Persons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A three-car crash in Portage County that killed two and left seven injured pushed the Ohio highway traffic death toll to at least 18 persons for the long Memorial Day weekend, the Highway Patrol said.

One of the dead was a Nutley, N.J. man, Richard Deltoro, the patrol said. Authorities said the car Deltoro was in collided with another at an intersection of Ohio 82 in Nelson Township. The second car was pushed into the path of a third.

State highway safety officials predicted 25 persons would die during the 78-hour period, which began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight. The dead:

- MONDAY
- ARCHBOLD — Michael Martinez, 21, of Wauseon, when the car in which he was riding ran off a county road in Fulton County.
- SUNDAY
- RAVENNA — Richard Deltoro, 20, Nutley, N.J., and Howard Wells, III, 19, of Cleveland Heights in a three-car crash on Ohio 82 in Nelson Township.
- TOLEDO — Karen Rick, 22, of rural Portage County when she was thrown from a car that ran off the road in Perrysburg Township.
- BARBERTON — Richard Hoffman, 29, of Barberton, when he lost control of his car on a Summit County road and careened into a creek.
- MANSFIELD — Todd Roll, 3, of Ashland, after being run over by a pickup truck and boat trailer on the loading ramp of the Pleasant Hill Reservoir marina in Ashland County.

Caribbean Summit Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans are in the works for a seven-nation economic summit in the Caribbean sometime this summer, the White House says.

President Ford would sponsor the proposed meeting, which is still in the preliminary planning stage, a spokesman said Monday.

The meeting would bring together leaders of the six nations that participated in a similar conference at Rambouillet, France, last November, and Canada.

The conferees at Rambouillet were the United States, France, West Germany, Britain, Italy and Japan. The government chiefs there discussed ways of combating inflation and spurring recovery from the worldwide economic recession.

Brezhnev Slates Visit To Bonn

BONN, West Germany (AP) — Soviet Leader Leonid I. Brezhnev will visit Bonn after the Oct. 3 West German national election, Chancellor Helmut Schmidt's government says.

Both countries are in contact to set an exact date for the visit, which is expected sometime next fall, Bonn government spokesman Armin Grunewald said Monday.

Brezhnev, who was last here in 1973 when Willy Brandt was chancellor, accepted an invitation Schmidt extended during consultations in Moscow in October 1974.

Martha Mitchell Rites Set Thursday

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Martha Mitchell, who died alone and in debt in a New York hospital, will be buried Thursday in this Arkansas River town where she spent her youth as a Southern belle with never enough dances for the boys.

"When I was young you measured a girl's popularity by the number of times boys cut in for the next turn to dance with her," said James W. Leslie of Pine Bluff, a retired writer and historian who knew Mrs. Mitchell in her youth. "She was no wallflower, if you know what I mean."

But Mrs. Mitchell, the estranged wife of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, was alone except for her doctor when she died Monday of a rare form of bone cancer.

Mitchell, their daughter and Mrs. Mitchell's son by a previous marriage, have told the mortuary they will attend the funeral. They are expected to arrive Wednesday.

The Mitchells were separated in 1973, and earlier this year Mrs. Mitchell went into court to force her husband to pay $36,000 in alimony.

"She loved the limelight," said her long-time friend and confidant, S. Ray West Jr. of Pine Bluff.

Mrs. Mitchell, who was at the center of some of Washington's most turbulent incidents in recent years, was born Martha Elizabeth Beall and began her trek to the nation's capital from this southeast Arkansas community where she was born just over 57 years ago.

"She was a Southern belle and was raised with all the protection and benefits a well-to-do family can offer," West said in an interview.

Her family's wealth stemmed from her grandfather's success in the wholesale grocery business. Her father was a successful cotton broker and her mother a speech teacher.

Her family lived in an impressive two-story white colonial mansion built by her grandfather in 1895 in the wealthy, established section of town.

Leslie said Mrs. Mitchell's outspokenness was not something she developed late in life. "Martha talked a lot, and people (in Pine Bluff) thought when she got to Washington and continued talking that it was just in her nature," Leslie said.

"She had some bad memories about her Washington days because they wrecked her personal life," West said. "It was a tremendous personal sacrifice of hers for exposing the things that she did."

But, he added, "She was one of the few shining lights of the Nixon years."

Holiday Crashes Kill 18 Persons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A three-car crash in Portage County that killed two and left seven injured pushed the Ohio highway traffic death toll to at least 18 persons for the long Memorial Day weekend, the Highway Patrol said.

One of the dead was a Nutley, N.J. man, Richard Deltoro, the patrol said.

Authorities said the car Deltoro was in collided with another at an intersection of Ohio 82 in Nelson Township. The second car was pushed into the path of a third.

State highway safety officials predicted 25 persons would die during the 78-hour period, which began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight.

The dead:

- MONDAY
- ARCHBOLD — Michael Martinez, 21, of Wauseon, when the car in which he was riding ran off a county road in Fulton County.
- SUNDAY
- RAVENNA — Richard Deltoro, 20, Nutley, N.J., and Howard Wells, III, 19, of Cleveland Heights in a three-car crash on Ohio 82 in Nelson Township.
- TOLEDO — Karen Rick, 22, of rural Portage County when she was thrown from a car that ran off the road in Perrysburg Township.
- BARBERTON — Richard Hoffman, 29, of Barberton, when he lost control of his car on a Summit County road and careened into a creek.
- MANSFIELD — Todd Roll, 3, of Ashland, after being run over by a pickup truck and boat trailer on the loading ramp of the Pleasant Hill Reservoir marina in Ashland County.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pushed ahead today, building on last Friday's gains.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose about a point and a half in the early going. Gainers took a 2-1 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said the market still seemed to be benefiting from Friday's news that oil-exporting countries had kept prices unchanged.

Most Wall Streeters had been looking for a 5 to 10 per cent increase as the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries met in Bali last week.

Today's early prices included Jody Manufacturing, unchanged at 47½; Warner-Lambert, up ½ at 32½; Quaker State Oil, down ¼ at 15¼, and J. Ray McDermott, off ¼ at 48½.

On Friday, before the three-day holiday weekend, the Dow Jones industrial average rose 9.66 to 975.23, reducing its loss for the week to 15.52 points.

Prices paid to farmers by Pickaway Grain were:

Ear Corn	2.68
Shelled Corn	2.77
Wheat	3.26
Oats	1.60
Beans	5.47

AWARD OF MERIT — Richard L. Gerhardt, left, president of the Pickaway County Bar Association; Carl Stern, center, NBC National Legal Newscaster and guest speaker at the awards ceremony; and Daniel I. Rosenthal, president of the Ohio State Bar Association, examine the Award of Merit plaque presented to the local bar for outstanding achievement by a medium sized association. It was one of four statewide awards presented to local bar associations by the Ohio State Bar Association at its annual convention recently held in Cleveland.

Judicial Candidates Examined

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cincinnati attorney twice defeated in a bid for statewide office and two lower court judges make up the Democratic field for one of two seats opening up this year on the Ohio Supreme Court.

The winner of the June 8 primary contest will go against a Republican nominee in the November general election, although neither will appear on the fall ballot with a political party designation. Law prohibits such designations in general elections for judges.

There is a two-way race for the Republican nomination in the scramble for the seat of incumbent Justice J.J.P. Corrigan, who is retiring. The term is six years.

Robert E. Cook, 56, currently a judge of the 11th District Court of Appeals, is one of the Democrats aspiring to Justice Corrigan's seat, which opens Jan. 1, 1977.

Before being first elected to his current judgeship in 1968, Cook, who lives at Ravenna, served two terms as Portage County prosecutor.

Before that, Cook served from 1958 to 1962 as a Democratic member of Congress. He was defeated in his bid for a third term in the House in 1962.

Cook has endorsements in his race for Ohio's highest court from the Greater Cleveland Bar Association and the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A second candidate for the Democratic nomination is Cuyahoga County Juvenile Court Judge John F. Corrigan, who is no relation to the retiring Republican justice. The Democrat Corrigan has been elected to the Cuyahoga County juvenile bench twice, first in 1958 and again in 1974.

In between, Corrigan, 53, served two terms in the Ohio House. He also has been a probation officer for the Cuyahoga County Court of Common Pleas.

A. William Sweeney, 55, Cincinnati, rounds out the Democratic field. Sweeney never has held public office, but is a veteran attorney who said his law practice has been devoted exclusively to handling cases in the U.S. Court of Claims.

Sweeney was the Democratic candidate for secretary of state in 1958 but lost to the Republican incumbent in

Great Seal

NEW YORK (AP) — The reverse of the Great Seal of the United States shows an Egyptian pyramid because more than 50 of the signers of the Declaration of Independence were concerned with esoteric sciences such as astrology and numerology, according to Harvey Day's "Occult Illustrated Dictionary" (Oxford University Press).

The book also says Evangeline Adams, a descendant of John Quincy Adams, was recognized as the first professional astrologer in America.

Cutback In Products Proposed

CLEVELAND (AP) — Braking the bulge in product proliferation could go a long way toward producing the capital that industry will need in building profits during the next decade, a consultant says.

And making such changes wouldn't be retrenchment but "just plain good sense," says James D. Blaser, director of Cleveland Consulting Associates in suburban Beachwood.

"It is no secret that American business is less profitable today than it was 10 years ago," Blaser says. "We are surprised to discover just how much."

"In general," he added in an interview looking toward a June 10 seminar, "profits have not eroded as a result of labor and material cost increases. Overall, these costs are about the same relative to sales as they were 10 years ago."

Increases in transportation, warehouse operation and interest costs account for the decline, he said.

And behind them lies the reason he sees as the "nearly $100 billion in excess finished-goods inventory" with which American industrialists have saddled themselves.

In the decade of the 1960s, industry centered on marketing, turning to satisfying consumer wants rather than simply selling a product, Blaser reasoned. He said the result was a bewildering array of colors, models, options and sizes—with the massive inventory needed to back up such variety.

Justice Corrigan's seat is one of two targeted by Democrats this year in a bid to have their party take control of the high tribunal for the first time since 1960. If they should win both, the current GOP margin of 5-2 would be shifted to 4-3 in their favor.

A Page Of Opinion

Hidden Killer

Nothing quite frustrates medical science as much as possessing the key to a major ailment and see many patients go untreated. Hypertension, or high blood pressure, is such a disorder.

In a three-year test to detect victims of hypertension, clinics were established in more than 1,000 sites in 42 states. More than one million persons were tested and one out of five was found to have hypertension.

Of victims of the ailment, 28 per cent knew they had it but either were receiving no treatment or inadequate treatment to control it. Another 28 per cent did not know they had the condition.

That is not a good record considering that high blood pressure can contribute to some of the leading causes of death, including hardening of the arteries, congestive heart failure, kidney disease, heart attack and stroke. Especially when a series of drugs developed in recent decades has proven effective in controlling the condition.

That's Not Funny

By PHYLLIS BATTELE
NEW YORK — On the appropriate theory that what the country needs is a good laugh to see it through the hard knocks, many people are wondering today which of the presidential hopefuls has the best sense of humor.

In almost every election, one candidate stands out for his wit, and 1976's best chance for chuckles certainly would be Morris (Mo) Udall. A consistent loser in the primaries, he cannot "drop his droll" even in the face of adversity. It has caused some opponents to observe testily, "Udall has a very funny following."

Jimmy Carter's mother, Mrs. Lillian Carter, was asked whether her son had a good sense of humor and she said that of course he does. Although she couldn't pinpoint a witticism off the top of her head, Mrs. Carter said that Jimmy, at home, was always saying things that made the family laugh. Anyway, if he doesn't say awfully amusing things in his campaign speeches, he must — from the way he grins — be thinking them.

Gov. Jerry Brown is said to have a nice sense of humor deep down; which is where it remains, as he stresses his youthful earnestness and candor on the constituency.

President Ford is uproarious when he muddles the jokes the ghosts have prepared for him, and Ronald Reagan occasionally delivers funnies but, like the actor he is, is only as good as the material written for him. In the give-and-take of a press conference, neither Reagan nor Ford is spontaneously witty.

Bill Adler, America's foremost expert on the sense of humor (or lack of thereof) among politicians and Presidents, believes that traditionally Democrats have been wittier than Republicans. No special reason. It just happens.

Without disclosing his own political affiliation, Adler (author of such past best-sellers as "The Kennedy Wit," "The Stevenson Wit," "Presidential Wit" and "The Washington Wits") told me that it's his belief that Franklin Delano Roosevelt was the greatest wit ever to sit in the White House. "He had a keen slightly sadistic humor, like Winston Churchill's."

The next wittiest President in history, as seen by Adler, was John F. Kennedy. "The key to wit is being able to turn your humor on yourself, and Kennedy was a master of that. He had several things going against him: inexperience, a rich father and Catholicism. If you read his campaign speeches, you'll find he kidded himself in these areas before the opposition could get at him. He was brilliant."

If Hubert Humphrey manages to wedge into this year's political race at the last moment, the country might get a few mild laughs, Adler says: "Humphrey isn't great at being witty, but he's better than average." Last time out, "McGovern certainly didn't give us any laughs. And Nixon was too busy trying to 'make the grade' all his life that he never developed a good sense of humor. I also wrote a volume on Nixon's wit. What I did was take a few lines from Lincoln — our last witty Republican President — and give them to Nixon."

Adler was a staunch admirer of the late Adlai Stevenson, based on the Illinois Democrat's humor. "Adlai Stevenson, was a great, intellectual wit, but unfortunately he ran ahead of his time — when the American people still felt that humor was not particularly desirable in a President."

Truman has "a marvelous sense of humor — even in the days before scriptwriters," Adler believed.

As for Lyndon Johnson, "he had a nice sense of humor, but was no wit."

The really "great wits," who never managed to win their chance at the White House, were former N.Y. Mayor John Lindsay, and Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater. "They would have added enormous humorous lustre to American history."

Contrary to public impression, Adler declared that Woodrow Wilson was a Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — After a three-day holiday with family, any issue-oriented American is certainly happy to be back with the routine headaches, questions, frustrations, mysteries and madness of everyday life.

Worry-free days leave an indolence, an inertia that is incompatible with the modern style, and therefore must be routed abruptly if things are to return safely to normalcy.

Here, then, are some questions designed to begin bothering immediately, but with the staying power to continue disturbing right through the summer:

—Why can we not, in view of our alleged enlightenment, do something about that onerous up-down cycle of the economy?

With all our knowledge of economics — it is difficult to describe the amount of research and analysis being done — we are still victims of the cycle. Our only sure inflation antidote, shockingly, is to put people out of work.

All those studies that are conducted in universities, government, union headquarters, corporations and elsewhere, when added up or distilled, amount to an argument rather than an answer.

Our response to an economy that threatens to go wild is not to tame it, as we would an animal, but to club it into senselessness. There seems to be no in-between.

We are now faced with an economy that is threatening to exhibit some undisciplined behavior. Will we try to deal delicately with the separate symptoms? Or will be once again bludgeon the whole economy into recession?

—Why can't we come up with a useable definition of unemployment?

With all our statistical astuteness, we still cannot agree on who is unemployed, and the consequences are "very funny President." And Calvin Coolidge was a "genius at barbed humor. When he was vice president, Coolidge attended a dinner party. He had the reputation of course, for being taciturn. So a lady seated next to him remarked, 'Mr. Vice President, I made a little bet with a friend that I could get you to say three words during dinner.' Coolidge turned to her coolly and said, 'You lose.'"

Phil Adler also edited the "Kids' Letters to the F.B.I.," "Kids' Letters From Camp," and a dozen others. As a specialist, therefore, on politicians, and kids, he told me:

"The great difference between kids and politicians is that kids have a great, sensitive awareness of everything going on around them, but they're still naive enough to be honest. Politicians often are exactly the opposite."

both painful and ridiculous.

For example, we do not count the worst of the unemployed as unemployed. These are the so-called discouraged workers, a million or so of them at the worst of the recession, who have given up looking for work because, they felt, there is almost no possibility of obtaining it.

This magnificent conceptual deceit serves to keep the jobless rate lower than it should be in recession, and it distorts the picture again during the recovery.

As the economy recovers, what do you think happens to those people who were not even counted as part of the labor force? They resurface themselves; they become job-seekers. And as such they must be counted.

Since these also are the very last people to obtain jobs, often waiting many months before their applications are acted upon, they add to the jobless rate. This phenomenon is occurring right now.

—What are we going to do about that big burst in car sales, especially in larger-size cars, when we still have to buy imported oil, when we still haven't resolved the problem of potential shortages?

This year could become the second best car-truck sales year in history, with 10.5 million cars and more than 3 million trucks sold. But weren't we supposed to be trying to cut down on our usage of energy?

Gypsy Moth Traps Set By State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A series of traps designed to attract the destructive gypsy moth will be placed throughout the state in an effort to control an agricultural pest.

Harold L. Porter, chief of the state agriculture department's division of plant industry, said 10,000 traps will be placed around campgrounds, parks and trailer courts, where chance of infestation is high. He said the program is an ongoing effort to eliminate infestation of the moth, which can be transported across long distances on trailer hitches, cars and camping equipment.

The bait for the traps is a synthetic material designed to attract and capture the adult male gypsy moth.

Charges Dismissed In Juvenile Case

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Charges of marijuana possession against two sons of Columbus Mayor Tom Moody and two other youths have been dismissed in Scioto County Juvenile Court.

Todd Moody, 16, and his brother, Trent, 14, were charged on April 22 at Shawnee State Park, after James Lintz, chief park ranger, arrested the youths and said he confiscated a small amount of marijuana.

H. Kenyon Watkins, assistant Scioto County prosecutor, requested that the charges be dismissed because, he said, "less than four ounces of marijuana was confiscated."

Kenyon said juvenile statutes "encourage nonjudicial handling of offenses involving minor misdemeanors."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, June 1, the 153rd day of 1976. There are 213 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1958, General Charles de Gaulle became premier of France.

On this date:

In 1796, Tennessee became the 16th state.

In 1801, the Mormon leader, Brigham Young, was born in Whitingham, Vermont.

In 1812, President James Madison advised Congress that war with Britain was inevitable.

In 1813, a U.S. Navy captain, James Lawrence, issued his famous command: "Don't give up the ship." He had been mortally wounded, and the frigate he commanded was being captured by a British warship near Boston.

In 1943, during World War Two, the English actor Leslie Howard was killed when a German warplane shot down the civilian transport plane he was aboard on a flight from Lisbon to London.

Ten years ago: The Southeast Asian countries, Indonesia and Malaysia, agreed to end three years of hostilities.

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon told a Washington news conference that his administration would give highest priority to dealing with the drug problem, both in the military forces and among civilians.

One year ago: Police in the White-ruled African country of Rhodesia killed 11 Blacks in a clash with rioters in Salisbury.

Today's birthday: Former major league baseball pitcher Dean Chance is 35 years old.

Thought for today: Upon the whole, I am much disposed to like the world as I find it — Benjamin Franklin, 1706-1790.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, British warships appeared off Charleston, S.C., and the city rushed preparations to defend itself against attack.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I come from a family of twins. I am going to be married to a "twin." Does this increase the chances that when I become pregnant I will have twins?
Miss H. S., Va.

Dear Miss S.:

Some of the mathematics about twins may be of interest to you. Twins are born in about 1 in 80 to 90 pregnancies. Triplets occur once in about 7,000 births. Quadruplets happen once in a million.

It is true that multiple births tend to occur more frequently in people who have such a family background. There is, however, no known way to determine in advance whether or not you, too, will have twins.

Is surgery always necessary to relieve glaucoma of the eye? My father has just been told that he has it.
Miss Y. T., Minn.

Dear Miss T.:

Surgery is not always necessary to relieve glaucoma. The early recognition of this important eye condition often can be controlled with medication.

I was surprised to learn recently that

Mata Hari

By JIM BISHOP

The milkmen and the factory women heard the crack of rifles. It was like breaking an obstinate stick. The women blessed themselves and hurried through the misty dawn. Mata Hari was dead.

She was an old spy at 41. She had been bought and paid for by the Germans. In the line of duty, she slept with the French. She made love as though it was the final ecstasy and patriotism had nothing to do with her work.

Mata Hari despised men. If, by passing secret information from France to Germany, she could cause 50,000 men to die in battle, the lady was pleased. It hardly mattered which side lost them.

She was born in Holland. Her true name was Margaretha Geertruida Zelle. At 18, she had hair like shiny coal, eyes like a midnight sky, and skin like rippling molasses. All of it fell under the eye of a manly sadist.

He was Capt. Campbell McLeod, an Englishman serving in Java. He met her parents, romanced the girl with stories of the Dutch East Indies, and married her. On the ship rolling to Djakarta through tropical seas, Captain McLeod beat his bride at his pleasure.

In Java, she gave birth to a son. A nurse poisoned it. Margaretha strangled the nurse and hid the body. When a daughter, Banda, was born, the Dutch girl turned to other men.

Whatever she had to offer is known only by dead men. It was enough to make slaves of majors and ministers. She shackled them, and ignored them. Margaretha smiled when they begged.

McLeod took his wife and Banda back to Rotterdam. The Dutch wife left the little girl with her family, and went to Paris. She introduced herself as a Hindu Brahman. Her name, she said, was Mata Hari: "Eye of the Dawn."

She danced in elite nightclubs. She wore gossamer veils, and dropped them one by one. In 1907, it was shocking to see a nude woman dancing. She wasn't any nude woman. There was something in that body as sinuous in its movements as an anaconda.

Mata Hari became a Parisian hit. The rich roués made presents of elaborate apartments, carriages, matched horses, sparkling gems. Her picture was in newspapers all over Europe.

She had lovers: Monsieur Jules Cambon, Ministry of Foreign Affairs; the Crown Prince of Germany; French Minister of War Messimy; most important, Herr von Jagow, German some patients confuse the high pressure within the eye with high blood pressure (hypertension). They are not related.

Every complete eye examination today includes the study of the pressure within the eye. This is known as tonometry. No eye examination is complete without it.

Only when the pressure within the eye cannot be controlled with drugs is surgery considered. The operation, called iridectomy, is not a painful or dangerous one. Its purpose is to widen the canal that normally drains off the excess fluid within the eye. After surgery the pressure within the eyeball is reduced and the danger to vision is markedly diminished. The treasure of eyesight depends on early recognition and early treatment of glaucoma.

I am always sorry when I learn that a patient has glaucoma. I am more sorry when I learn that glaucoma has been undetected and untreated for a long time. You truly should be grateful that your father's condition has been recognized and that he is now under the care and supervision of his physician.

Foreign Minister.

It was he who suggested that Mata Hari could earn millions by spying on France. She thought it over. Mata Hari was 35; old for a sexy dancer. She agreed.

Before World War I began in 1914, the lady was in bed with many French generals and war ministers. Gently, she teased, she tortured until the gentlemen told her all the things they were sure she would not understand.

When war broke out between Germany and France, she sent her secrets through neutral Holland. She warned von Jagow that the British had invented a "land ship of steel." This was the first tank. She told of a French offensive, where, when, what day. Two hundred thousand men were killed or sustained wounds.

Mata Hari smiled. The French implored her to spy for them. She agreed, took their money, and fed them information they already had. In 1917, the Germans feared that Mata Hari was dangerous.

They sent her a big check, and allowed the French to intercept it. She was arrested. In July, 1917, she stood haughtily before seven French officers to be court-martialed.

The prosecutor-officer proved that she had sold secrets to the Germans. "This — this woman," he shouted, "cost at least 50,000 Frenchmen their lives."

Mata Hari was found guilty. She was sentenced to death and thrown into St. Lazare prison. Her old attorney, Monsieur Clunet, begged her to be of good cheer. The French would not shoot a pregnant woman; he would volunteer to make her pregnant.

Mata Hari declined. She was attended by two nuns. All she had left was a fur coat. She understood Frenchmen, she said. She would go out into the prison yard and face the firing squad without a blindfold. When the officer said, "Ready, aim..." Mata Hari would throw open the coat.

They could not defile that body with bullets. On October 15, 1917, at 5:15 a.m., she walked out to a splintered post. Outside the walls, the factory women heard the rifles. They blessed themselves...

Horace Greeley said of Cincinnati, Ohio, after a visit in 1850 that he doubted "if there is another spot on earth where food, fuel, cotton, timber, iron, can all be concentrated so cheaply—that is, at so moderate a cost of human labor in producing and bringing them together"

Condemned Housing Torched

CLEVELAND (AP) — More than one-third of the homes condemned here this year already have been torched, Fire Capt. Robert E. Gold says.

Gold, who heads the Cleveland Fire Department's arson investigators, says late spring and early summer is "the season our headaches begin."

Gold says there were 1,976 arsons last year in Cleveland, an average of about five per day, but that's misleading since most of them come on weekends. And Gold says the rate already is ahead of last year's.

The May 22 weekend was typical, Gold says. One old apartment building and nine empty homes were set afire.

Among Cleveland's arsons, about 800 are vacant houses and at least half of those fires are set by juveniles, Gold says.

Last May 5 produced three arsons, and youths were seen running from two of them where gasoline cans were found later, authorities say.

They say the third was the abandoned house from which spread the flames that swept much of a three-block area, destroying or damaging 28 homes and driving 60 families into the predawn streets.

Gold says the only way to reduce the number of set fires in abandoned buildings is to enforce the city's curfew and to tear down the buildings before arsonists set them ablaze.

State Workers Win Job Appeal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thirty-two state workers laid off last year by the Department of Administrative Services have won an appeal and will be reinstated with back pay, the state Personnel Board of Review has said.

In a 2-1 decision effective Wednesday, the board said testimony and documentation presented in a three-month hearing failed to prove the administrative service department's contention that the layoffs were necessary because of a lack of funds.

The review board said that state Supreme Court rulings in similar cases give the board jurisdiction and do not permit an appeal by the department involved.

"This board has the sole and exclusive right to determine the validity of layoffs of state employees in the classified civil service," the board said.

Green-Keener Wedding Vows Exchanged In Kingston Church

MR. AND MRS. BURTON GUY KEENER

United Methodist Church of Kingston was the setting on May 15 when Glenna Williams Green became the bride of Burton Guy Keener.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Williams, 674 Swackhammer Road, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Harr, 710 Northridge Road.

The Rev. Doyle N. Wiggins and the Rev. Pearl Casto performed the double ring service at 1:30 p.m. before the altar adorned with two arrangements of yellow and white daisy pompons and baby's breath, and centered with a Bible with a spray of greenery across it. Matching floral arrangements graced the piano and organ. Ivory bows with greenery were at each window and on the pews with potted mums at each side of the aisle. Ivory bows with streamers were on the candelabra flanking the altar.

Organist, Mrs. Carson Kelley and vocalist, Mrs. Doyle Wiggins provided music for the wedding. Preceding the ceremony selections included "Somewhere My Love," "If Ever I Would Leave You," "Where Do I Begin," and "A Time For Us." Mrs. Wiggins sang "One Hand One Heart," and "The Lord Is My Shepherd." During the ceremony Mrs. Kelley played the "Bible Chorus" and as the couple were lighting the unity candle Mrs. Wiggins sang "Wither Thou Goest." The "Wedding March" completed the presentations.

The bride was attired in a candlelight bijou bridal satin floor length gown with long sleeves, round neckline and high waistline. A hooded candlelight chiffon cape edged in cluny ecru lace fell softly into a chapel length train. The bride carried a bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses with yellow and white pompon mums and baby's breath. A matching full wreath of flowers formed her headpiece.

Mrs. Mike Seitz, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a gown designed like that of the bride in pale yellow qiana. Her bouquet was a pompon puff of golden yellow and white, with a full wreath of matching pompons for her hair. Her gold necklace was a gift from the bride.

Bridesmaids were Miss Vicky Williams and Miss Beverly Williams, sisters of the bride, and Miss Susan Lingo and Mrs. Perry Reeves. Their costumes, accessories, and flowers were identical to those of the matron of honor.

Miss Becky Wiggins was flower girl. The little Miss was in a gown of yellow qiana matching the attendants with a high waist, round neckline and short sleeves. She carried a white basket with yellow and white pompons and baby's breath and wore a floral wreath in her hair. She also wore a gold necklace, a gift from the bride.

Master Johnny Green son of the bride, served as ring bearer. He carried the rings on an ivory colored pillow with yellow sweetheart roses, yellow and white pompon mums and baby's breath.

Mr. Perry Reeves performed the duties of best man. Ushers were Mr. Terry Branham, Mr. Mike Henderson, Mr. Steve Lingo and Mr. Jack Randle.

The bride's mother selected for her daughter's wedding a floor length A-line double knit beige gown with long sleeves and a high neckline. An orange, green and beige floral chiffon poncho was worn over the gown. Her corsage was of rolled yellow rose petals fanning out around a golden rose.

The bridegroom's mother wore a mint green double knit full length gown with long sleeves, V-neckline and gathered empire bodice. Her accessories were green and her corsage identical to that of the bride's mother.

A reception in the social room of the church immediately followed the ceremony. The bride's table, covered with a moss green cloth and yellow bells at the front, was centered with a three tiered wedding cake decorated with yellow roses, green leaves, white bells and surrounded with greenery. Silver candlesticks with yellow tapers flanked the cake. Yellow cloths with green bows covered the punch and gift tables. Identical floral arrangements of yellow and white pompon mums and baby's breath flanked the punch bowl along with moss green candles in silver candlesticks.

Hostesses were Mrs. Fran Grizzell, Mrs. Bob Miller, Mrs. Gary Campbell and Mrs. Charles Long. Mrs. Larry Walls attended the guest book.

For her going-away costume, the bride wore a street length dress of yellow qiana, yellow, gray and camel scarf and camel colored shoes.

The bride graduated from Circleville High School. She attended Lee College in Cleveland, Tenn. and Fort Pierce

Bridge Club Holds Annual Championships

Forty people attended the Wednesday game of the Circleville Duplicate Bridge Club at the Pickaway County YMCA building. The 10 table game was directed by Margaret Knox. Jim Edman and Ken Knox were Men's Pair winners, Miriam Briner and Fran Turner are the 1976 Women's Pair Champions.

Winners were (possible 158 per cent): Men, 1. Jim Edman and Ken Knox, 64.6 per cent; 2. Dave Johnson and Mike Yunker, 59.8 per cent; 3. Ben Briner and Pat Turner, 48.8 per cent; Willis Liston and Chas Mowery tied for fourth with Vince De Frank and Ralph Anderson. Women, 1. Miriam Briner and Fran Turner, 59.8 per cent; 2. Eileen Huskey and Laura Hutzelman, 58.3 per cent; 3. Audrey Johnson and Gates Yunker 56.8 per cent; 4. Kay Farynowski and Gert Rickerd, 54.5 per cent.

Church Women Honor Bride

Christian Women's Missionary Society of Northridge Church of Christ honored Mrs. Phillip Kasler, the former Miss Robin Roy, with a bridal shower May 25 at the church.

Guests were Nelva Kasler, Mrs. June Timmons, Mrs. Bennie Sherrick, Miss Dawnel Bergen, Miss Janet West, Mrs. Mary Fee, Mrs. Yvonne Myers and Mrs. Janet Baker.

Refreshments were served by hostesses, Mrs. Ellen Robinson and Mrs. Marge Bergen.

Games were played with prizes won by Mrs. June Timmons, Miss Janet West and Miss Dawnel Bergen, who presented them to the guest of honor.

Sending gifts as they were unable to attend were Mrs. Linda Smith, Mrs. Mary Master and Mrs. Pam Dean.

Pythian Sisters Plan Initiation

Pythian Sister of Majors Temple 516 will initiate new members during its 8 p.m. Thursday meeting in the K of P lodge rooms.

Dress will be formal and each member is to bring one dozen cookies. Beverly Currence, Arlene Hart, and Fred and Louise Brown will serve during the social hour.

Community College in Fort Pierce, Fla.

The bridegroom, also a graduate of Circleville High School, attended Circleville Bible College. He is presently employed with the bride's father in the building business. The couple now resides at 131 York St. in Circleville.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Ashville, Mt. Sterling, Hebron and Pickerington, Ohio; Kentucky and Indiana.

The wedding party was entertained with a dinner hosted by the bridegroom's parents at Wardell's Party Home the evening prior to rehearsal.

Rock Gardens Program For Garden Club

Mrs. Rose Kahler presented a program on rock gardens using the book "All About Rock Gardens" by Walter Kolaga at the May 24 meeting of the Derby Garden Club.

Mrs. Kahler said "There are two kinds of rock gardens, man-made and imitation." Man-made gardens are the most common—where rocks are collected and brought to the site, then arranged in a natural setting. Imitation gardens are used on slopes or banks where it might be difficult to maintain a lawn. Rock gardens help prevent erosion and need time to become established. Suggested plants to use depending on sun or shade are: rock aster, allium, dwarf sweet william, alyssum, moss rose, daisy, anemone, alpine, begonia, creeping phlox, coleus, dwarf iris, violas, hens and chickens, and violets. A background of shrubbery if desired might include rhododendron, mahonia, juniper, taxus, cotoneaster, and the holly or barberry family.

During the business meeting, Carolyn Ohenewehr, ways and means chairman, reported a profit of $260 from the plant sale held May 7 and 8. Reports were heard from the float and flower show committees. Members were reminded to plant a red, white and blue garden for judging during the club member's garden tour July 19. The Derby Garden Club will fill two drum flower planters placed in the Derby area as one of its civic projects. Lois Rouff and Jane Vance will plant them.

Freda McPherson, Shirley McPherson and Lois Rouff will represent the club at the Pickaway County Council of Garden Club's meeting May 26 at Pickaway Arms in Circleville.

The next meeting will be June 28 at the Derby Methodist Church. Freda McPherson will give her interpretation of the arrangements for the 1976 Homecoming Flower Show schedule. Martha Buller will discuss the specimen classes.

FOE Auxiliary To Install Officers

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"All bankrupts," wrote Charles Lamb in 1829, "out to be hung."

In so saying, the English essayist was reflecting the historic view of bankruptcy as a form of punishment. The debtor who could not pay his bills had to be disciplined as an object lesson to the rest of the populace.

Modern American law, however, does not case bankruptcy in this punitive role. Instead, it has these two basic purposes:

- 1) to give the overburdened debtor a fresh start; and
- 2) to divide his assets equitably among his creditors.

But even today it is the honest debtor, not the deadbeat, whom bankruptcy is intended to help. Thus, bankruptcy does not ordinarily wipe out a debt that was incurred by fraud.

One man, realizing that he was hopelessly insolvent, had papers drawn up for a declaration of bankruptcy. But before actually filing the papers, he went on a buying spree at several department stores with a still-good credit card.

Did bankruptcy relieve him of these debts? A court, finding his conduct fraudulent, said no.

"Not content to settle for a fresh start," said the court, "(he) abused the bankruptcy law. To the extent of these excesses, (he) should not enjoy immunity from personal responsibility."

On the other hand, the law also demands fair dealing on the part of the creditor. For example:

The application form at a finance company called for the borrower to list "all" of his debts. One customer listed just two, but only because the manager assured him that this would be sufficient.

When he later went bankrupt, the company insisted that his debt was not wiped out because he had lied on the application form. But the court sided with the debtor. The court said if his statement was less than the whole truth, the company had only itself to blame.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"All bankrupts," wrote Charles Lamb in 1829, "out to be hung."

In so saying, the English essayist was reflecting the historic view of bankruptcy as a form of punishment. The debtor who could not pay his bills had to be disciplined as an object lesson to the rest of the populace.

Modern American law, however, does not case bankruptcy in this punitive role. Instead, it has these two basic purposes:

- 1) to give the overburdened debtor a fresh start; and
- 2) to divide his assets equitably among his creditors.

But even today it is the honest debtor, not the deadbeat, whom bankruptcy is intended to help. Thus, bankruptcy does not ordinarily wipe out a debt that was incurred by fraud.

One man, realizing that he was hopelessly insolvent, had papers drawn up for a declaration of bankruptcy. But before actually filing the papers, he went on a buying spree at several department stores with a still-good credit card.

Did bankruptcy relieve him of these debts? A court, finding his conduct fraudulent, said no.

"Not content to settle for a fresh start," said the court, "(he) abused the bankruptcy law. To the extent of these excesses, (he) should not enjoy immunity from personal responsibility."

On the other hand, the law also demands fair dealing on the part of the creditor. For example:

The application form at a finance company called for the borrower to list "all" of his debts. One customer listed just two, but only because the manager assured him that this would be sufficient.

When he later went bankrupt, the company insisted that his debt was not wiped out because he had lied on the application form. But the court sided with the debtor. The court said if his statement was less than the whole truth, the company had only itself to blame.

Sixteen hours of intensive driving training for teenagers is available from the Interstate Driving School, Chillicothe, for $108.

All lessons are private, which allows the instructors to work directly with each student for half the course.

Students from the Pickaway County area may enroll by calling the Driving School. New classes are started each Saturday and it takes about 2½ weeks to finish the training.

Other classroom work is completed on Tuesday and Thursdays.

Classroom work, under the direction of Ray Montgomery, stresses laws and state regulations of driving, good habits, seeing habit, following and stopping distance, responsibilities, and other aspects. Insurance is also covered.

Slides and movies are shown in conjunction with the classroom work.

Then the students are permitted to practice what they learned in four, two-hour driving classes conducted by Michael Bibb.

Bibb picks up and returns each student to his home, and arrangements can be made to use the Interstate cars for driver's license examinations for an additional charge.

PARKING, one of the hardest aspects of driving for new drivers, receives extensive practice at the Interstate Driving School. Special parking stakes at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds are used for the practicing.

Interstate also offers a remedial driving course which consists of eight hours of classroom work.

The course is geared towards problem drivers who have accumulated between six and 11 points on their driver's licenses. Successful completion of the course will lower the point total by two.

All that is required to sign up for the student portion of the classes is a $50 downpayment. Remainder of the fee, which is due upon completion, may be paid in a variety of ways including Master Charge.

Payment plans are available. The professional driving school, organized Feb. 2, 1969, has grown to three full-time instructors and three part-time. Interstate covers an area from south Columbus to Portsmouth. More than 3,000 students have graduated from the program.

All instructors are trained for their work and receive further training each year. They are licensed by the State Department of Highway Safety, who conducts inspections of the school and training offered.

Instructors are Montgomery, Bibb, Danny Montgomery, John Dreitzler, Denver Harrington, and William McDonald.

VW Wants Pennsylvania Plant Site

NEW STANTON, Pa. (AP) — Jobs. That's what Volkswagen means to this Westmoreland County town.

The West German automaker announced last Friday that an unfinished Chrysler Corp. building here was the preferred choice for its first North American assembly plant.

At full production, the plant would employ 5,000 workers, making the payroll larger than the community of 3,500.

Despite the boom talks, some folks are griping about the pains the new industry will bring to the town.

"The plant will be good for the economy, but what I don't like is that now I can leave my lawn chairs outside and my doors unlocked. When Volkswagen moves in, I'll have to take my chairs inside and lock my doors," said Lee Pagano, a motel-tavern owner here.

"We simply aren't equipped for everything this plant will bring," echoed local merchant Tom Leonard. "People don't think of the other plants it will bring and the other people they'll attract. Everything is just going to change too fast and for the worse."

James Coulter sees it differently. The 28-year-old man has a wife and child, but no job.

Two hours after the company announced its choice, he drove 20 miles and was the first to pull up to the plant's main gate to apply for work.

As he wrote his name at the top of the list, Coulter said, "I want to put in an application for a job. Maybe being here first would get me first consideration."

Rice Bread Progress Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although still experimental, there are encouraging signs that high-quality bread can be made from rice flour which could be of help to people who must restrict their diets for health reasons, the Agriculture Department said today.

"Patients with hypertension, nephritis (inflamed kidneys) and digestive difficulties, for example, would benefit from diets that include rice bread because rice contains low levels of sodium, protein, fat and fiber, and high amounts of easily digested carbohydrates," the department's Agricultural Research Service said.

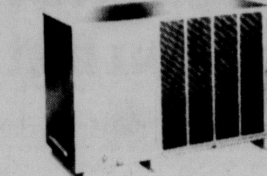

Moreover, the agency said, people whose small intestines react adversely to certain proteins in wheat can safely eat rice bread because it does not contain those particular proteins.

"The major problem that had to be overcome before rice bread could become a reality was finding a suitable ingredient that would act as gluten does in wheat bread," officials said. "Gluten traps the leavening gases produced by the yeast during fermentation, thereby allowing the dough to rise."

Officials said that there are rice bread recipes now which call for the addition of chemical leavening agents but that "those breads do not have the texture or taste normally associated with yeast-leavened breads."

A party of whites under Col. David Williamson which, like the Indians, distrusted the red men who turned Christian, carried out the massacre of 90 harmless and helpless Christian Indians at Gnadenhutten, Ohio, on March 7, 1782. Thirty-four of the victims were children. Two small boys escaped and the Moravian Indians at nearby Schoenbrunn learned of the massacre in time to flee. A state park on the site now honors the victims.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Plastic Surgery Not Busybody's Business

DEAR ABBY: I am going into the hospital for four or five days to have silicone breast implants. A good friend of mine who is also my neighbor has offered to look after my two children during the day in her home.

My problem is another neighbor who is in and out of my house several times a day. She is quite a busybody, and I don't want her to know where I am and why.

I've thought of telling her I'm going to visit my mother who lives out of state, but then she'd wonder why I wouldn't be taking my pre-schooler. I could tell her I'm going to the hospital for a D and C.

Or I could just leave and not tell her anything, but she would see my husband taking my kids to my neighbor's house and back, and she'd be sure to ask him where I was.

The neighbor who is caring for my children knows the facts and can be trusted not to say anything, but I don't want Mrs. Busybody to know. What should I tell her?

WANTS PRIVACY

DEAR WANTS: Tell her you're going to the hospital for minor surgery. Period. (P.S. And if she presses for more information, tell her it's a personal matter.)

DEAR ABBY: In response to DISGUSTED IN CHICAGO, who complained about the service in a restaurant: No! Walking toward the door without paying will not do it.

Last year, my husband and I waited one-half hour for the bill in a fashionable Palm Springs restaurant. In desperation, my husband finally went to get the waitress himself. She said she'd be "right over."

We waited for another 15 minutes, and he again went looking for her and saw her through the kitchen window talking to the help. Finally, after waiting for another 15 minutes we got up and stood by the exit door for five minutes. Everyone was looking at us and knew what we had in mind, but when the waitress still didn't come, we walked out without paying our bill for $26.

It was not even a busy evening. I hope she had to pay for our bill. What would you have done?

MADELEINE

I'd have located the manager, paid my bill (sans tip) and told him why he shouldn't expect to see us again.

DEAR ABBY: A quote from your column, "Violence begets violence," calls to mind the words of the late Martin Luther King Jr. (from his book, "Stride Toward Freedom;")

"To retaliate in kind would do nothing but intensify the existence of hate in the universe. Along the way of life, someone must have sense enough and morality enough to cut off the chain of hate."

Thanks for trying, Abby.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

An all too familiar note was sounded this week by Vice President Nelson Rockefeller when he called for a get-tough policy against criminals and a return to individual responsibility.

That same message has been heard throughout the Presidential primary campaigns, principally by President Ford, who some time ago called for mandatory jail sentences for nearly all convicted of a felonious crime.

There is ample reason for public concern. The steady rise in crime, much of it committed by second and third offenders, has exposed weaknesses in our criminal justice system and has prompted justifiable criticism from citizens in all segments of our society and from all areas of the country.

Those official Uniform Crime Reports compiled by the Federal Bureau of Investigation have for the past few years been the bearers of bad news for law-abiding Americans, who are the potential victims of crime. The report published this past November revealed that serious crime in this country rose by a record 17.6 per cent in 1974.

However, a recently completed Census Bureau survey concluded that nearly four times as many serious crimes were committed in 1974 as were reported by the FBI in its statistics.

The FBI listed crimes reported by local police departments, while the Census Bureau, in a study conducted for the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, projected its figures by interviewing victims of crimes.

For the sake of comparison, it is interesting to note that the FBI had announced that the number of serious crimes in 1974 jumped by well over 17 per cent to more than 10 million. The Census Bureau, on the other hand, said that there were 39.6 million serious crimes in 1974, compared to the previous year's almost 37 million. The bureau's report was based on interviews in 65,000 homes and 15,000 businesses.

Public opinion on the issue of crime in America has been marked by fear and indifference. It is common to hear people state that they would get involved but are fearful to do so because the criminal will get a slap on the wrist in court and soon be free for retaliation.

That may be an unfortunate reaction, but under present circumstances, it is somewhat understandable. Currently, very few lawbreakers are forced to serve anything close to the time imposed as a sentence by the judge.

Knowing this, the criminal is hardly intimidated or deterred by empty threats of a long prison term. He is convinced that if convicted he would be eligible for parole in a relatively short time and soon be back on the streets to prey on the law-abiding citizens who pay the salaries of the judges and the taxes that build and maintain the jails and prisons.

Washington, D. C., with its high crime rate, is a case in point. Two out of three persons arrested for serious crimes there escape conviction. In the unlikely event of conviction, slightly over half actually go to jail. They also enjoy the benefit of concurrent sentences. What is worse, most of those arrested for felonies in the Nation's Capital have prior criminal records.

Congress did little to improve the situation when it enacted the Parole Reorganization Act of 1975 during the last session. I opposed that legislation, which unfortunately demonstrated congressional sympathy for the criminal instead of responsibility to the innocent victims of crime.

The act provides that every federal prisoner has a statutory right to parole at the end of one-third of his sentence unless the Parole Commission finds reason for denying the parole. It clearly shows that a life sentence does not mean a life sentence at all.

Attorney General Edward Levi, who has called for federal sentencing standards, recently complained that punishment is not swift and not certain — and he is right. We need improved police apprehension of criminals, speedier trials, and confinement for criminals who commit serious and repeated crimes.

We need less plea bargaining by prosecutors and less individualized justice by lenient judges. In short, we need a change in priorities. That change will come less from the expenditure of more federal dollars than from support for law enforcement agencies at all levels and acceptance of the fact that crime is everybody's business.

VW Wants Pennsylvania Plant Site

NEW STANTON, Pa. (AP) — Jobs. That's what Volkswagen means to this Westmoreland County town.

The West German automaker announced last Friday that an unfinished Chrysler Corp. building here was the preferred choice for its first North American assembly plant.

At full production, the plant would employ 5,000 workers, making the payroll larger than the community of 3,500.

Despite the boom talks, some folks are griping about the pains the new industry will bring to the town.

"The plant will be good for the economy, but what I don't like is that now I can leave my lawn chairs outside and my doors unlocked. When Volkswagen moves in, I'll have to take my chairs inside and lock my doors," said Lee Pagano, a motel-tavern owner here.

"We simply aren't equipped for everything this plant will bring," echoed local merchant Tom Leonard. "People don't think of the other plants it will bring and the other people they'll attract. Everything is just going to change too fast and for the worse."

James Coulter sees it differently. The 28-year-old man has a wife and child, but no job.

Two hours after the company announced its choice, he drove 20 miles and was the first to pull up to the plant's main gate to apply for work.

As he wrote his name at the top of the list, Coulter said, "I want to put in an application for a job. Maybe being here first would get me first consideration."

Rice Bread Progress Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although still experimental, there are encouraging signs that high-quality bread can be made from rice flour which could be of help to people who must restrict their diets for health reasons, the Agriculture Department said today.

"Patients with hypertension, nephritis (inflamed kidneys) and digestive difficulties, for example, would benefit from diets that include rice bread because rice contains low levels of sodium, protein, fat and fiber, and high amounts of easily digested carbohydrates," the department's Agricultural Research Service said.

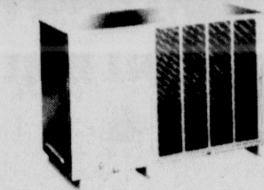

Moreover, the agency said, people whose small intestines react adversely to certain proteins in wheat can safely eat rice bread because it does not contain those particular proteins.

"The major problem that had to be overcome before rice bread could become a reality was finding a suitable ingredient that would act as gluten does in wheat bread," officials said. "Gluten traps the leavening gases produced by the yeast during fermentation, thereby allowing the dough to rise."

Officials said that there are rice bread recipes now which call for the addition of chemical leavening agents but that "those breads do not have the texture or taste normally associated with yeast-leavened breads."

A party of whites under Col. David Williamson which, like the Indians, distrusted the red men who turned Christian, carried out the massacre of 90 harmless and helpless Christian Indians at Gnadenhutten, Ohio, on March 7, 1782. Thirty-four of the victims were children. Two small boys escaped and the Moravian Indians at nearby Schoenbrunn learned of the massacre in time to flee. A state park on the site now honors the victims.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Plastic Surgery Not Busybody's Business

DEAR ABBY: I am going into the hospital for four or five days to have silicone breast implants. A good friend of mine who is also my neighbor has offered to look after my two children during the day in her home.

My problem is another neighbor who is in and out of my house several times a day. She is quite a busybody, and I don't want her to know where I am and why.

I've thought of telling her I'm going to visit my mother who lives out of state, but then she'd wonder why I wouldn't be taking my pre-schooler. I could tell her I'm going to the hospital for a D and C.

Or I could just leave and not tell her anything, but she would see my husband taking my kids to my neighbor's house and back, and she'd be sure to ask him where I was.

The neighbor who is caring for my children knows the facts and can be trusted not to say anything, but I don't want Mrs. Busybody to know. What should I tell her?

WANTS PRIVACY

DEAR WANTS: Tell her you're going to the hospital for minor surgery. Period. (P.S. And if she presses for more information, tell her it's a personal matter.)

DEAR ABBY: In response to DISGUSTED IN CHICAGO, who complained about the service in a restaurant: No! Walking toward the door without paying will not do it.

Last year, my husband and I waited one-half hour for the bill in a fashionable Palm Springs restaurant. In desperation, my husband finally went to get the waitress himself. She said she'd be "right over."

We waited for another 15 minutes, and he again went looking for her and saw her through the kitchen window talking to the help. Finally, after waiting for another 15 minutes we got up and stood by the exit door for five minutes. Everyone was looking at us and knew what we had in mind, but when the waitress still didn't come, we walked out without paying our bill for $26.

It was not even a busy evening. I hope she had to pay for our bill. What would you have done?

MADELEINE

I'd have located the manager, paid my bill (sans tip) and told him why he shouldn't expect to see us again.

DEAR ABBY: A quote from your column, "Violence begets violence," calls to mind the words of the late Martin Luther King Jr. (from his book, "Stride Toward Freedom");

"To retaliate in kind would do nothing but intensify the existence of hate in the universe. Along the way of life, someone must have sense enough and morality enough to cut off the chain of hate."

Thanks for trying, Abby.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

An all too familiar note was sounded this week by Vice President Nelson Rockefeller when he called for a get-tough policy against criminals and a return to individual responsibility.

That same message has been heard throughout the Presidential primary campaigns, principally by President Ford, who some time ago called for mandatory jail sentences for nearly all convicted of a felonious crime.

There is ample reason for public concern. The steady rise in crime, much of it committed by second and third offenders, has exposed weaknesses in our criminal justice system and has prompted justifiable criticism from citizens in all segments of our society and from all areas of the country.

Those official Uniform Crime Reports compiled by the Federal Bureau of Investigation have for the past few years been the bearers of bad news for law-abiding Americans, who are the potential victims of crime. The report published this past November revealed that serious crime in this country rose by a record 17.6 per cent in 1974.

However, a recently completed Census Bureau survey concluded that nearly four times as many serious crimes were committed in 1974 as were reported by the FBI in its statistics.

The FBI listed crimes reported by local police departments, while the Census Bureau, in a study conducted for the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, projected its figures by interviewing victims of crimes.

For the sake of comparison, it is interesting to note that the FBI had announced that the number of serious crimes in 1974 jumped by well over 17 per cent to more than 10 million. The Census Bureau, on the other hand, said that there were 39.6 million serious crimes in 1974, compared to the previous year's almost 37 million. The bureau's report was based on interviews in 65,000 homes and 15,000 businesses.

Public opinion on the issue of crime in America has been marked by fear and indifference. It is common to hear people state that they would get involved but are fearful to do so because the criminal will get a slap on the wrist in court and soon be free for retaliation.

That may be an unfortunate reaction, but under present circumstances, it is somewhat understandable. Currently, very few lawbreakers are forced to serve anything close to the time imposed as a sentence by the judge.

Knowing this, the criminal is hardly intimidated or deterred by empty threats of a long prison term. He is convinced that if convicted he would be eligible for parole in a relatively short time and soon be back on the streets to prey on the law-abiding citizens who pay the salaries of the judges and the taxes that build and maintain the jails and prisons.

Ashville Youth Thrown From Rolling Vehicle

A 16-year-old Ashville youth, thrown from his rolling car, was one of three people who suffered minor injuries in traffic accidents investigated by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies during the long Memorial Day weekend.

Anthony M. Siriano, 16, 326 Plum St., Ashville, was treated at Berger Hospital for multiple contusions and abrasions he suffered in a single-car accident 10:25 a.m. Sunday on the Lockbourne-Eastern Road.

Deputy Jim Fite said Siriano was driving south when his shoe lodged under the accelerator pedal of his car, causing him to lose control.

He drove off the right side of the road into a fence. The car rolled over and Siriano was thrown from the vehicle.

A blow-out on the right front tire of a car driven by Watler J. Morris, 27, Route 1, Clarksburg, was blamed for a one-car accident 4 p.m. Monday on the Judas Road, east of Route 207.

Morris was referred to a doctor for treatment of minor injuries by Deputy Sheriff Jim Dixon, who investigated the crash.

He was eastbound on the Judas Road and approaching a bridge over Hay Run Creek when the blow-out occurred.

The car struck the west end of the bridge, traveled along the top of the bridge railing, and drove off the north side of the road for 159 feet.

It came back to the paved surface and traveled 226 feet before coming to a stop.

A passenger, Melanie Morris, 19, Route 1, Clarksburg, was not hurt.

Roger L. Hastings, 18, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, was forced off County Road

500 by an unidentified motorist, who made a left turn in front of his northbound car 6 p.m. Saturday.

Hastings was referred to a doctor for treatment of back pains by Deputy Jim Dixon.

Hastings skidded 46 feet on the road and 35 feet off the paved surface before striking a Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric pole.

The accident occurred two-tenths of a mile south of Route 62.

Strong winds apparently blew a huge tree onto a car 6:05 p.m. Monday, according to Deputy Jim Fite.

But, luckily, two persons in the vehicle were not hurt.

Deputy Fite said Marian Harden, Route 1, Kingston, was driving east on Route 361, about a half a mile west of the Route 159 intersection, when the tree crushed her car.

Mrs. Harden and 15-year-old Kent Harden were not hurt, although the vehicle sustained extensive damage.

Harsha Endorses Ford

Congressman William H. Harsha today strongly endorsed President Gerald Ford for the Republican nomination for President.

In his whole-hearted endorsement, Harsha said, "Gerald Ford has brought openness and candor to the White House and his policies have regenerated the economy."

Harsha said while he had not agreed with President Ford on every issue, he did not expect to be able to any more than Ford would be able to support his positions all of the time.

On balance, he felt more comfortable with Ford's positions on the issues than those of any of the other announced candidates.

Introducing TeleDialer 32.

Push a button and it does everything for you but say hello.

Our new electronic directory doesn't just keep track of phone numbers. It dials them for you, too. Automatically.

It records up to 32 numbers. There's one button for each number and, next to that button, a place for the name. When you want to make a call, you just point to the person you want to talk to...and push.

For emergency or other important numbers, there are four separate color-coded buttons. They save critical seconds if you ever need the police, doctor, ambulance, etc.

In fact, TeleDialer 32 saves you time and trouble all day long in your office or home. It reduces time-consuming dialing errors. It even has a "last number dialed" button that automatically records your last manually-dialed number. So, if you get a busy signal, you can call back without re-dialing.

TeleDialer 32 comes in white, or in black with simulated wood grain panels. And it's available to all our customers.

Ordering one, however, takes a little effort. You have to dial all seven digits of your General Telephone business office.

500 by an unidentified motorist, who made a left turn in front of his northbound car 6 p.m. Saturday.

Hastings was referred to a doctor for treatment of back pains by Deputy Jim Dixon.

Hastings skidded 46 feet on the road and 35 feet off the paved surface before striking a Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric pole.

The accident occurred two-tenths of a mile south of Route 62.

Strong winds apparently blew a huge tree onto a car 6:05 p.m. Monday, according to Deputy Jim Fite.

But, luckily, two persons in the vehicle were not hurt.

Deputy Fite said Marian Harden, Route 1, Kingston, was driving east on Route 361, about a half a mile west of the Route 159 intersection, when the tree crushed her car.

Mrs. Harden and 15-year-old Kent Harden were not hurt, although the vehicle sustained extensive damage.

Harsha Endorses Ford

Congressman William H. Harsha today strongly endorsed President Gerald Ford for the Republican nomination for President.

In his whole-hearted endorsement, Harsha said, "Gerald Ford has brought openness and candor to the White House and his policies have regenerated the economy."

Harsha said while he had not agreed with President Ford on every issue, he did not expect to be able to any more than Ford would be able to support his positions all of the time.

On balance, he felt more comfortable with Ford's positions on the issues than those of any of the other announced candidates.

Introducing TeleDialer 32.

Push a button and it does everything for you but say hello.

Our new electronic directory doesn't just keep track of phone numbers. It dials them for you, too. Automatically.

It records up to 32 numbers. There's one button for each number and, next to that button, a place for the name. When you want to make a call, you just point to the person you want to talk to...and push.

For emergency or other important numbers, there are four separate color-coded buttons. They save critical seconds if you ever need the police, doctor, ambulance, etc.

In fact, TeleDialer 32 saves you time and trouble all day long in your office or home. It reduces time-consuming dialing errors. It even has a "last number dialed" button that automatically records your last manually-dialed number. So, if you get a busy signal, you can call back without re-dialing.

TeleDialer 32 comes in white, or in black with simulated wood grain panels. And it's available to all our customers.

Ordering one, however, takes a little effort. You have to dial all seven digits of your General Telephone business office.

President Ford Presented Life Member Card In Kiwanis

LIFE MEMBER — Ted R. Osborn (left), Lexington, Ky., president of Kiwanis International presents a gold card to President Gerald R. Ford, designating Ford a life member in Kiwanis International.

President Gerald R. Ford, an honorary member of the Kiwanis Club of Grand Rapids — South Kent, Michigan, was presented a Life Member Status gold card by Kiwanis International President Ted R. Osborn of Lexington, Kentucky recently at the termination of a visit to the President in the White House.

Word of the visit and the presentation ceremony came to Ray Cundiff, president of the Kiwanis Club of Circleville from Kiwanis headquarters in Chicago.

During the visit, Osborn reported to the President on the status of Kiwanis' Major Emphasis Program for the current year, a two-objective program seeking to aid both the older citizens of the country, including people preparing for retirement, and children with specific learning disabilities. The program is called "The Greater Years — The Younger Years."

City Board Seeks Draw On Taxes

The Circleville Board of Education met in a special session at 7:30 a.m. this morning to approve an advance draw on local taxes.

Distribution of the tax money to the school district is late.

Jury Finds In Favor Of Defendants

A jury of eight returned a verdict Friday in favor of the defendants in a case where two men were suing the Kroger Grocery Company and its former manager for nearly a million dollars.

Glenn B. Farnham was seeking judgment against the grocery store and former manager Harley E. Thomas in the amount of $550,000. His complaint alleged defamation of character, invasion of privacy, assault and battery and unlawful detention.

A suit in the amount of $440,000 was filed against the same two defendants by Dale G. Burris for unlawful detention and defamation of character.

The plaintiffs, represented by Roy Huffer, tried to prove that they had suffered irreparable damage as a result of being accused of shoplifting by Thomas.

The defendants were represented by Columbus attorney James Monahan. As a result of the jury's verdict, the defendants will not have to pay anything to the plaintiffs.

Parochial Arguments Scheduled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A three-judge panel was to hear arguments today on the constitutionality of Ohio's most recent legislation to aid non-public schools.

The bill was enacted last summer with support of church and school groups after federal courts voided three previous parochial formulas in suits brought by the American Civil Liberties Union of Ohio.

Last fall the ACLU challenged the new bill, which would provide $44.4 million a year in the form of mobile classrooms to be located at parochial schools, construction and operation of learning centers near nonpublic schools, guidance counselors, textbooks and other aids.

In December, U.S. District Court Judge Joseph P. Kinneary granted a temporary restraining order barring expenditure of the funds. The order later was modified, pending today's hearing, to permit purchase of textbooks for the religious schools.

The panel will comprise Judge John W. Peck of the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, U.S. District Court Judge Robert M. Duncan of Columbus and Kinneary, also of Columbus.

ADC Payments Made To County

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office today announced the June distribution of $74,591 to Pickaway County in Aid To Dependent Children payments.

Central Ohio Water Plan Seminar Set In Chillicothe

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources (ODNR) will conduct a meeting in Chillicothe June 8, concerning the development of the Central Ohio Water Plan.

The plan would be for the region encompassing the drainage basins of the Scioto and Hocking rivers, Ohio Brush Creek and its tributaries, and Raccoon Creek and its tributaries.

Meeting on June 8 will be the Central Ohio Water Plan Advisory Council, to be composed of more than 60 members from the area representing federal, state and local governments; utilities; business and development groups; conservation organizations; school districts; sportsmen's groups; agricultural organizations; and the news media.

ODNR Director Robert W. Teater will address the council meeting, which begins at 1:30 p.m. June 8 at the Holiday Inn on Business Route 23 in the northern part of Chillicothe. Wayne Nichols, Chief of ODNR's Division of Water, will act as chairman of the body.

Deputies Find Stolen Car, Seek Another

A warrant has been issued in connection with the theft of a car from a Route 3 home by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies, who also recovered the remains of a vehicle stolen from Darbydale.

James B. King, Route 3, gave deputies the name of a suspect who may have taken his 1971 Mercury Sunday between 2 p.m. and 5:30 p.m.

The car, valued at $1,000, is believed to be headed towards Texas, Deputy Nick Franklin said.

Deputy Jim Fite recovered a 1975 Ford owned by Arnold J. Marcum, Darbydale. The car was found in a wooded section of Scioto River bottomland off the Canal Road 2 p.m. Sunday.

Thieves destroyed the car by fire before stripping it of its battery, car radio, and Pace 23-channel citizen band radio.

The car was taken between Friday and Sunday from Marcum's home.

Thieves broke into the 6 Brown St., Commerical Point, home of John VanSickle to take $420 cash.

The incident occurred after 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

A small pane of glass was broken from the front door to allow access to the door lock. The cash was taken from two locked boxes in the bedroom.

Long Named County Head For Judge Potter

The Potter For Supreme Court Committee announces appointment of P. Eugene Long II, Circleville attorney, as Pickaway County Chairman for Judge John W. Potter, Toledo, candidate for the Ohio Supreme Court term beginning January 1, 1977, in the June 8 Republican Primary.

Judge Potter, currently serving on the Court of Appeals, Sixth Appellate District, has been endorsed for the Ohio Supreme Court post by the Lucas, Meigs and Franklin County Republican organizations, major newspapers and the Cuyahoga County Bar Association. He is the only Republican candidate for the January 1 term with experience in the Ohio Supreme Court, having served by invitation during his terms as appellate court judge.

A former mayor of Toledo, Judge Potter is past president of the Ohio Municipal League, a graduate of the University of Toledo, with honors, and the University of Michigan Law School. He is a member of the Toledo, Lucas County and Ohio Bar Associations, a sustaining member of the American Bar Association and a fellow of the American Bar Foundation.

He was elected to the bench of the Sixth Appellate Court in 1968 and reelected without opposition in 1974.

Truck Fire Reported

Circleville firemen were called out at 4 a.m. this morning when Lloyd Ratcliff's truck caught fire on the corner of Washington and Main Streets.

The fire had been caused by a short under the dash. Firemen disconnected the battery to extinguish the flame. Only minor losses were reported.

Teater said ODNR is assigned the responsibility of preparing comprehensive plans for the development, use and protection of Ohio's water resources. Work will be in close cooperation with the Ohio EPA and various participating federal agencies. Detailed plans for each of the state's five water planning districts will make up the statewide water plan.

The Northwest and Northeast water plans were completed in 1967 and 1972 respectively, and the Southwest water plan now is being published.

Work on the Central Ohio plan was suspended in 1972 when major changes were made in federal water policies and programs. Work on the plan is resuming now that the changes have been completed.

"We hope to have the Central Ohio Water Plan ready for publishing by the end of this year," Teater said. "With the assistance of our advisory council, I'm sure we can meet this goal."

Representatives of federal water planning agencies will be at the meeting to participate in the discussions and answer questions.

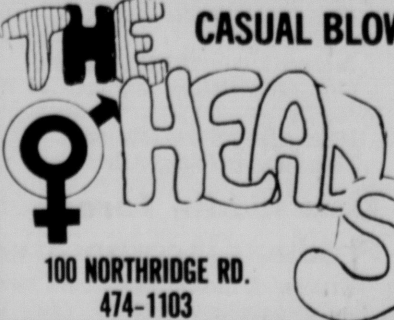

The region affected by the Central Ohio Water Plan includes all or parts of the following counties: Hardin, Marion, Morrow, Union, Logan, Delaware, Champaign, Madison, Franklin, Fairfield, Perry, Pike, Fayette, Pickaway, Hocking, Athens, Morgan, Clinton, Highland, Ross, Vinton, Meigs, Adams, Scioto, Jackson, Lawrence and Gallia.

Citizen Band Radio Taken

A Pace 123 H citizen band radio was taken from a semi truck owned by William Fletcher, 572 E. Ohio St., according to Circleville Police.

The radio, valued at $169, was taken Monday night.

Thieves broke the vent glass from the cab of the truck to gain access to the interior.

Anna Leach, 803 S. Clinton St., told police that thieves took her pet dog from the back yard of her home Friday night.

The animal, a one-year-old fawn-colored part shepherd, is valued at $50. William Neil, 422 S. Washington St., told police that he lost his diploma from Circleville High School near the school building 3:55 p.m. Sunday.

Willoughby Female Seminary founded in 1847 later developed into Lake Erie College for Women at Painesville, Ohio in 1859.

Deputies Find Stolen Car, Seek Another

A warrant has been issued in connection with the theft of a car from a Route 3 home by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies, who also recovered the remains of a vehicle stolen from Darbydale.

James B. King, Route 3, gave deputies the name of a suspect who may have taken his 1971 Mercury Sunday between 2 p.m. and 5:30 p.m.

The car, valued at $1,000, is believed to be headed towards Texas, Deputy Nick Franklin said.

Deputy Jim Fite recovered a 1975 Ford owned by Arnold J. Marcum, Darbydale. The car was found in a wooded section of Scioto River bottomland off the Canal Road 2 p.m. Sunday.

Thieves destroyed the car by fire before stripping it of its battery, car radio, and Pace 23-channel citizen band radio.

The car was taken between Friday and Sunday from Marcum's home.

Thieves broke into the 6 Brown St., Commerical Point, home of John VanSickle to take $420 cash.

The incident occurred after 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

A small pane of glass was broken from the front door to allow access to the door lock. The cash was taken from two locked boxes in the bedroom.

Long Named County Head For Judge Potter

The Potter For Supreme Court Committee announces appointment of P. Eugene Long II, Circleville attorney, as Pickaway County Chairman for Judge John W. Potter, Toledo, candidate for the Ohio Supreme Court term beginning January 1, 1977, in the June 8 Republican Primary.

Judge Potter, currently serving on the Court of Appeals, Sixth Appellate District, has been endorsed for the Ohio Supreme Court post by the Lucas, Meigs and Franklin County Republican organizations, major newspapers and the Cuyahoga County Bar Association. He is the only Republican candidate for the January 1 term with experience in the Ohio Supreme Court, having served by invitation during his terms as appellate court judge.

A former mayor of Toledo, Judge Potter is past president of the Ohio Municipal League, a graduate of the University of Toledo, with honors, and the University of Michigan Law School. He is a member of the Toledo, Lucas County and Ohio Bar Associations, a sustaining member of the American Bar Association and a fellow of the American Bar Foundation.

He was elected to the bench of the Sixth Appellate Court in 1968 and reelected without opposition in 1974.

Truck Fire Reported

Circleville firemen were called out at 4 a.m. this morning when Lloyd Ratcliff's truck caught fire on the corner of Washington and Main Streets.

The fire had been caused by a short under the dash. Firemen disconnected the battery to extinguish the flame. Only minor losses were reported.

Roger Maltbie Wins $200,000 Memorial

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) — "I wish the U.S. Open was now," said Roger Maltbie, the carefree bachelor's golf game at its peak.

ROGER MALTBBIE

Memorial Winner

"I've finally dazzled myself. I may have to re-evaluate. I didn't think I was this good of a player," said Maltbie of his third triumph in 16 tour months, Jack Nicklaus' inaugural $200,000 Memorial event.

"This is my 45th pro tournament and it's the first time I've beaten Nicklaus. I did it on his own course. I like that," said the 25-year-old Californian, cracking a big smile.

Maltbie says his four-hole playoff victory over 1974 U.S. Open champion

Hale Irwin at Muirfield Village Sunday was no accident. He birdied the 437-yard 18th to pick up $40,000.

"I grew up on a course—the San Jose Country Club—where you have to walk single file down the fairway. It was 6,200 yards, but really tight. Straightness is the best feature of my game," said the tour's 1975 Rookie of the Year.

"I'm not ashamed of my four rounds here. I hit a pole to win. But I'm not ashamed," said Maltbie.

His four-iron approach shot struck a gallery post to the left of the 430-yard 17th, the third extra hole with Irwin. The ball shot back on the green, 20 feet away. Maltbie then matched Irwin's par four.

"I was aiming for the right side of the green, trying to hook the ball. I got a little careless. I was terribly scared at first I had hit somebody in the head as quickly as the ball came back on the green," said Maltbie.

"It was luckier than what Hale said. It was destiny."

Maltbie still faces a 36-hole sectional qualifier at Charlotte, N.C., next week before he can even think about the Open. "To say this bolstered my confidence going into it would be an understatement. I'm driving the ball so well," he said.

While Maltbie's game rates at its top, Irwin isn't so sure of his.

"I don't feel I'm playing the game the way I should. I don't have that feeling it takes," said Irwin, still less than $2,000 behind No. 1 money winner Hubert Green.

Irwin's fourth-round comeback—he was seven shots in arrears of Maltbie before Sunday—was the biggest of 1976. And the par 288s by Irwin and Maltbie represented the highest winning total this season, seven more than Hawaii and the Colonial.

The three-hole total score playoff format was the first tried in an American tournament. Usually, four stops: are sudden death affairs or 18-hole playoffs the next day.

"It's a good innovation. I expect we'll use it again next year," said Nicklaus.

John McClaren Wins Ohio State 500 Race

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — John McClaren of Houston, Tex. set a world speed record during qualifications Monday and won the feature in the fourth round of the Ohio State 500 for super modifieds at the Dayton Speedway.

First National Bank defeated Saving Bank in a game called after four innings but the scorekeeper failed to report the final score on his sheet.

Brett Sherrick and Tim Chelikowsky shared the mound for First National while Todd Sark was on the hill for the Savings.

Curt Smith led the winners with a homer and two other hits, Brett Sherrick rapped two hits while Eugene DeBruin, Tim Chelikowsky, Mike McConnell and Doug Steinhouiser each had a hit.

Tim Isaac and Eric Theis each had a hit to account for the Savings Bank's two safeties.

Second National Bank 16, Circleville Oil 13

John Lutz belted a pair of home runs while Peter Kazmierczak went the distance to lead the Bankers to victory. Hill and Whittaker shared the mound for the Oilers.

Tom Porter also bombed a homer for the Bankers, Wellington rapped three hits, Gerald Cooley, Todd Justus and Blevins each added two hits while Kazmierczak, Scooby and Timmons each ripped a hit.

Arhert connected for a four-bagger for the Oilers, Gleason slammed two hits while Garrett, Legg, Utt, Whittaker and Hill each rapped one hit.

Savings Bank 5, IOOF 4

The Bankers scored in the top of the fourth inning to gain the edge in a game called at the end of the fourth due to rain. Dave Delong pitched the victory while Alex Vandergriff and Randy Huffer shared the mound for IOOF.

Ben MacFadden, Jim Isaac, Rocky Davis and Jon Hawks each had a hit for the Bankers.

Darrell Geis and Randy Huffer both belted homers for IOOF while Alex Vandergriff and Rick Elswick both had a hit for IOOF.

LITTLE LEAGUE MAJORS

Elks 22,

Owens-Illinois 11

The Elks scored in every inning to gain the victory despite a late innit rally by the O-I. Tony Cooper and John Cordle combined to pitch the win while Justice and Chris Contino shared the hill for O-I.

Tony Cooper led the Elks attack with four hits including a homer, Jim Lewis slammed a home run and another hit, John Cordle and Matt Albright each rapped three hits, Willie Uhl had two while Tom Brungs, Sean McConnell, Rich Weigand and Vic Riffle each had one.

Grabbans led O-I with three hits while Justice, Chris Contino and Conner each belted one hit.

Herald Hawks 5, Bingman's 3

The Herald Hawks scored all 5 runs in the top of the fourth inning to cop the fray. Barry Sealock hurled the win while Chris Febes and John Adams were on the hill for Bingman's.

Tommy Tomlinson led the Hawks attack with a pair of hits while Barry Sealock, Brad Miller and Scott Foll each belted one.

Jeff Williams, Todd Hartley, Fred Styers and Scott Heeter each had one hit for the Druggists.

Roger Maltbie Wins $200,000 Memorial

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) — "I wish the U.S. Open was now," said Roger Maltbie, the carefree bachelor's golf game at its peak.

ROGER MALTBBIE
Memorial Winner

"I've finally dazzled myself. I may have to re-evaluate. I didn't think I was this good of a player," said Maltbie of his third triumph in 16 tournaments, Jack Nicklaus' inaugural $200,000 Memorial event.

"This is my 45th pro tournament and it's the first time I've beaten Nicklaus. I did it on his own course. I like that," said the 25-year-old Californian, cracking a big smile.

Maltbie says his four-hole playoff victory over 1974 U.S. Open champion

Hale Irwin at Muirfield Village Sunday was no accident. He birdied the 437-yard 18th to pick up $40,000.

"I grew up on a course—the San Jose Country Club—where you have to walk single file down the fairway. It was 6,200 yards, but really tight. Straightness is the best feature of my game," said the tour's 1975 Rookie of the Year.

"I'm not ashamed of my four rounds here. I hit a pole to win. But I'm not ashamed," said Maltbie.

His four-iron approach shot struck a gallery post to the left of the 430-yard 17th, the third extra hole with Irwin. The ball shot back on the green, 20 feet away. Maltbie then matched Irwin's par four.

"I was aiming for the right side of the green, trying to hook the ball. I got a little careless. I was terribly scared at first I had hit somebody in the head as quickly as the ball came back on the green," said Maltbie.

"It was luckier than what Hale said. It was destiny."

Maltbie still faces a 36-hole sectional qualifier at Charlotte, N.C., next week before he can even think about the Open. "To say this bolstered my confidence going into it would be an understatement. I'm driving the ball so well," he said.

While Maltbie's game rates at its top, Irwin isn't so sure of his.

"I don't feel I'm playing the game the way I should. I don't have that feeling it takes," said Irwin, still less than $2,000 behind No. 1 money winner Hubert Green.

Irwin's fourth-round comeback—he was seven shots in arrears of Maltbie before Sunday—was the biggest of 1976. And the par 288s by Irwin and Maltbie represented the highest winning total this season, seven more than Hawaii and the Colonial.

The three-hole total score playoff format was the first tried in an American tournament. Usually, four stops are sudden death affairs or 18-hole playoffs the next day.

"It's a good innovation. I expect we'll use it again next year," said Nicklaus.

John McClaren Wins Ohio State 500 Race

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — John McClaren of Houston, Tex. set a world speed record during qualifications Monday and won the feature in the fourth round of the Ohio State 500 for super modifieds at the Dayton Speedway.

Tribe Tops Birds Twice

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians threw Blanks at the Baltimore Orioles Monday night—Larvell Blanks that is.

The young utility infielder was the catalyst in Cleveland's 4-1, 4-3 sweep of the Orioles, raising the Indians to the .500 mark (21-21) for the first time since May 7.

With a day off today before resuming here against Baltimore Wednesday night, the Indians will get to savor their first even-up record in the month of June since 1972.

Blanks, a diminutive 26-year-old, drove in two runs with a triple—one of four hits in the opener—and two more with his second homer of the season, capping a three-run seventh-inning rally in the nightcap.

He played second base in the first game, then moved to shortstop in the second, ending the game with a spectacular relay throw that cut down pinch hitter Tommy Harper trying to take second after singling Tony Muser to third.

"I came up in the Atlanta Braves organization," Blanks explained, "and they always told us to know where the runners are. I wasn't supposed to cut that ball off, but instincts took over."

"I wasn't sure if we had a play on Muser at third, but I saw Harper wasn't at second yet, so I cut it off and threw," he added. "I knew we had him."

Marshall 3rd In State

Mark Marshall of Amanda-Clearcreek places third in the Class A 220-yard dash Saturday in the State high school track finals at Ohio State University stadium.

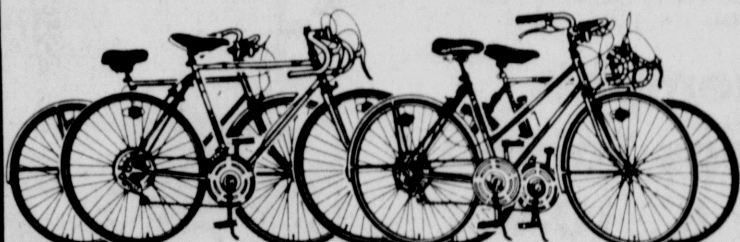

Mark covered the distance in 22.6 to gain third spot in a field of six.

Mike Smith of Yellow Springs won the event with a time of 22.2 and Tom Sessler of Ashtabula was second in 22.3.

Marshall also competed in the 440 yard dash but failed to qualify Friday when he had a time of 51.7. The eight fastest times qualified for the finals and Mark's time put him in the number nine position.

Alabama had the best football defense against scoring last season, allowing only 66 points in 11 games.

Foster, Reds Defeat Astros, 4-2

HOUSTON (AP) — George Foster had one of the hottest bats in baseball during May but the Cincinnati Reds outfielder says he doesn't pay much attention to statistics.

Foster's two-run homer climaxed a three-run fifth inning rally Monday night to carry the Reds to a 4-2 comeback victory over the Houston Astros.

Foster's home run was his ninth of the year and his seventh for May. He hit for a .360 average and knocked in 31 runs during the month.

"I don't think about statistics," Foster said. "I don't go over every out in every inning after every game. I just try to help win ball games."

He said he didn't even know what kind of a pitch he hit for his home run.

"Only the guy who pitched it knows that," Foster said.

"I didn't think it was going out, it was so high. It usually takes a line drive to go out in the Astrodome."

J. R. Richard, the Astros' starting pitcher, gave up the homer to Foster and allowed three of the Reds' four runs as he absorbed his fourth straight loss. That made his record 5-5.

Cincinnati right-hander Pat Darcy, 2-3, hurled the first five innings to register his second victory against three losses.

The Astros jumped to a 1-0 lead off Darcy in the fourth inning. After two outs, Jose Cruz tripled and Cliff Johnson doubled.

Pete Rose led off the Reds' fifth with a walk and scored on a triple by Joe Morgan to tie the game. Foster then followed with his two-run shot over the centerfield wall to give the Reds a 3-1 lead.

Houston cut that lead to 3-2 in the sixth. Cesar Cedeno's single and Bob Watson's walk put two men on with no outs.

Pedro Borbon relieved Darcy and retired the next two batters before Enos Cabell singled in Cedeno.

Houston reliever Ken Forsch wild-pitched in the fourth Cincinnati run in the ninth.

If Foster didn't want to talk about statistics, Manager Sparky Anderson didn't mind making a prediction for his outfielder.

"I think he can hit 30 home runs and knock in 100 runs this season," said Anderson, who also had some nice things to say about his pitchers.

"We are slowly working our pitching staff together," he said. "It takes a while to get the pitchers working into the slot."

All Jim Kaat has to do to beat the Chicago Cubs is throw out his glove as it appears.

Actually, that's exactly what he did Monday.

The Philadelphia left-hander made a small but significant adjustment to his pitching delivery and the result was a 4-1 victory in the second game of a Memorial Day doubleheader.

"It wasn't anything major," Kaat said after his six-hitter followed a 7-5 opening-game loss. "It was the way I throw my glove out at the hitter. I wasn't doing it and had lost some of my velocity."

His velocity restored, Kaat's performance perked up considerably. Not normally a strikeout pitcher, he fanned six Cubs en route to his 238th career victory.

Elsewhere in the National League, the San Diego Padres outscored the Atlanta Braves 10-7; the Cincinnati Reds turned back the Houston Astros 4-2 and the San Francisco Giants whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-1 in 12 innings. A doubleheader between the Montreal Expos and St. Louis Cardinals was postponed by rain.

Mets 13-1, Pirates 2-2

Memphis Tops Toledo In IL, 10-9

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jesus De la Rosa blasted a two-run homer in the ninth inning to lift Memphis to a 10-9 International League victory over Toledo Monday.

The Blues were trailing 9-7 entering the bottom of the inning following Mud Hen homers by Joe Lis and Rick Cerone. But losing hurler Jim Strickland walked Raymond Perez and yielded a bad-hop single to Craig Cacek. Rick Chiles drove in Perez with a sacrifice fly before De la Rosa homered.

In other IL action Monday, Tidewater defeated Rhode Island 4-3; Richmond downed Syracuse 3-1 and Rochester defeated Charleston 8-1.

Rick Miller's triple and Brock Pemberton's double in the three-run fifth inning proved to be the decisive runs for Tidewater. Back-to-back homers by Rhode Island's Butch Hobson and Jack Baker pulled the Red Sox within two runs of the Tides in the eighth. But Rhode Island couldn't come up with any additional runs.

Jon Matlack hurled a five-hitter and received 14-hit support as New York overwhelmed Pittsburgh in the first game. Doc Medich pitched a five-hitter and Duffy Dyer hit his second home run of the season as the Pirates won the second game.

"Anytime you get four runs in a doubleheader, lose the first game by a big score and then win the second, you have to be happy," said Pittsburgh

Manager Danny Murtaugh.

Padres 10, Braves 7

Dave Winfield capped a six-run eighth inning with a three-run homer to give San Diego its victory over Atlanta. Winfield's seventh homer of the year broke a 7-7 tie and gave the Padres their sixth triumph in eight games. The defeat was the fourth straight for the Braves.

Rich Folkers, 1-1, the fifth San Diego

pitcher, was the winner. Max Leon, 1-2, the third Atlanta hurler, absorbed the loss.

Giants 7, Dodgers 1

Bobby Murcer smashed a two-run single in the top of the 12th inning to break a 1-1 tie as San Francisco erupted for six runs to beat Los Angeles.

The Giants loaded the bases against reliever Mike Marshall, 3-3, on successive singles by Larry Herndon, Derral Thomas and Chris Speier. Then Murcer, who had grounded out four straight times and also flied out, singled through the Dodgers' drawn-in infield to score Herndon and Thomas. Before the inning was over, Ken Reitz doubled home two runs, Marc Hill singled home one and winning pitcher Randy Moffit, 3-2, singled home a sixth run.

Golden Barber Wins Scioto Downs Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Golden Barber moved into the lead at the halfway point and went on to win the featured race at Scioto Downs by 1 1/4 lengths Monday night.

Foster, Reds Defeat Astros, 4-2

HOUSTON (AP) — George Foster had one of the hottest bats in baseball during May but the Cincinnati Reds outfielder says he doesn't pay much attention to statistics.

Foster's two-run homer climaxed a three-run fifth inning rally Monday night to carry the Reds to a 4-2 come-from-behind victory over the Houston Astros.

Foster's home run was his ninth of the year and his seventh for May. He hit for a .360 average and knocked in 31 runs during the month.

"I don't think about statistics," Foster said. "I don't go over every out in every inning after every game. I just try to help win ball games."

He said he didn't even know what kind of a pitch he hit for his home run.

"Only the guy who pitched it knows that," Foster said.

"I didn't think it was going out, it was so high. It usually takes a line drive to go out in the Astrodome."

J. R. Richard, the Astros' starting pitcher, gave up the homer to Foster and allowed three of the Reds' four runs as he absorbed his fourth straight loss. That made his record 5-5.

Cincinnati right-hander Pat Darcy, 2-3, hurled the first five innings to register his second victory against three losses.

The Astros jumped to a 1-0 lead off Darcy in the fourth inning. After two outs, Jose Cruz tripled and Cliff Johnson doubled.

Pete Rose led off the Reds' fifth with a walk and scored on a triple by Joe Morgan to tie the game. Foster then followed with his two-run shot over the centerfield wall to give the Reds a 3-1 lead.

Houston cut that lead to 3-2 in the sixth. Cesar Cedeno's single and Bob Watson's walk put two men on with no outs.

Pedro Borbon relieved Darcy and retired the next two batters before Enos Cabell singled in Cedeno.

Houston reliever Ken Forsch wild-pitched in the fourth Cincinnati run in the ninth.

If Foster didn't want to talk about statistics, Manager Sparky Anderson didn't mind making a prediction for his outfielder.

"I think he can hit 30 home runs and knock in 100 runs this season," said Anderson, who also had some nice things to say about his pitchers.

"We are slowly working our pitching staff together," he said. "It takes a while to get the pitchers working into the slot."

All Jim Kaat has to do to beat the Chicago Cubs is throw out his glove as it appears.

Actually, that's exactly what he did Monday.

The Philadelphia left-hander made a small but significant adjustment to his pitching delivery and the result was a 4-1 victory in the second game of a Memorial Day doubleheader.

"It wasn't anything major," Kaat said after his six-hitter followed a 7-5 opening-game loss. "It was the way I throw my glove out at the hitter. I wasn't doing it and had lost some of my velocity."

His velocity restored, Kaat's performance perked up considerably. Not normally a strikeout pitcher, he fanned six Cubs en route to his 238th career victory.

Elsewhere in the National League, the San Diego Padres outscored the Atlanta Braves 10-7; the Cincinnati Reds turned back the Houston Astros 4-2 and the San Francisco Giants whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-1 in 12 innings. A doubleheader between the Montreal Expos and St. Louis Cardinals was postponed by rain.

Mets 13-1, Pirates 2-2

Memphis Tops Toledo In IL, 10-9

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jesus De la Rosa blasted a two-run homer in the ninth inning to lift Memphis to a 10-9 International League victory over Toledo Monday.

The Blues were trailing 9-7 entering the bottom of the inning following Mud Hen homers by Joe Lis and Rick Cerone. But losing hurler Jim Strickland walked Raymond Perez and yielded a bad-hop single to Craig Cacek. Rick Chiles drove in Perez with a sacrifice fly before De la Rosa homered.

In other IL action Monday, Tidewater defeated Rhode Island 4-3; Richmond downed Syracuse 3-1 and Rochester defeated Charleston 8-1.

Rick Miller's triple and Brock Pemberton's double in the three-run fifth inning proved to be the decisive runs for Tidewater. Back-to-back homers by Rhode Island's Butch Hobson and Jack Baker pulled the Red Sox within two runs of the Tides in the eighth. But Rhode Island couldn't come up with any additional runs.

Jon Matlack hurled a five-hitter and received 14-hit support as New York overwhelmed Pittsburgh in the first game. Doc Medich pitched a five-hitter and Duffy Dyer hit his second home run of the season as the Pirates won the second game.

"Anytime you get four runs in a doubleheader, lose the first game by a big score and then win the second, you have to be happy," said Pittsburgh

Manager Danny Murtaugh.

Padres 10, Braves 7

Dave Winfield capped a six-run eighth inning with a three-run homer to give San Diego its victory over Atlanta. Winfield's seventh homer of the year broke a 7-7 tie and gave the Padres their sixth triumph in eight games. The defeat was the fourth straight for the Braves.

Rich Folkers, 1-1, the fifth San Diego

pitcher, was the winner. Max Leon, 1-2, the third Atlanta hurler, absorbed the loss.

Giants 7, Dodgers 1

Bobby Murcer smashed a two-run single in the top of the 12th inning to break a 1-1 tie as San Francisco erupted for six runs to beat Los Angeles.

The Giants loaded the bases against reliever Mike Marshall, 3-3, on successive singles by Larry Herndon, Derrel Thomas and Chris Speier. Then Murcer, who had grounded out four straight times and also flied out, singled through the Dodgers' drawn-in infield to score Herndon and Thomas. Before the inning was over, Ken Reitz doubled home two runs, Marc Hill singled home one and winning pitcher Randy Moffitt, 3-2, singled home a sixth run.

Departing Blyeleven Drops Clash

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Bert Blyeleven may have waved goodbye to jeering Minnesota fans Monday night. It was anything but a fond farewell.

Amid reports that he was bound for the Texas Rangers, the Twins' ace pitcher dropped a 3-2 decision to the California Angels and, as he left the mound, made a well-known obscene gesture to the crowd, which had taunted him earlier with choruses of "Bye, Bye, Bertie."

In other American League action, the Chicago White Sox won a foggy 9-4 decision over the Texas Rangers, the New York Yankees took a raucous 8-3 verdict from the Boston Red Sox, the Cleveland Indians swept a doubleheader from the Baltimore Orioles 4-1 and 4-3, the Oakland A's thumped the Kansas City Royals 10-1 and the Detroit Tigers edged the Milwaukee Brewers 5-4 in 11 innings. Blyeleven's money hassle with the Twins has been well-publicized and he reportedly will be dealt to Texas as soon as the two clubs can agree to which pitcher or pitchers the Twins will acquire from the Rangers along with infielder Roy Smalley.

Blyeleven, who allowed six hits and fanned nine, passed the 1,700-inning mark and also recorded his 1,400th career strikeout but failed to notch his 100th triumph. California's Frank Tanana struck out 12 and scattered seven hits in outpitching him.

Bruce Bochte, who doubled and scored the Angels' first run on Bill Melton's single in the second inning, drove in the final run with an eighth-inning single. Andy Etchebarren tripled the other California run across in the seventh.

White Sox 9, Rangers 4

Chet Lemon's three-run, lost-in-the-fog triple and Jorge Orta's fifth home run of the season paced Chicago's victory. Lemon's bases-loaded triple with two out in the first inning was a routine pop fly which fell between shortstop Toby Harrah and left fielder Tom Grieve because of the dense fog.

Jim Spencer led Chicago's 15-hit attack with four singles while Lemon and Orta collected three hits apiece.

Yankees 8, Red Sox 3

Chris Chambliss and Oscar Gamble collected three hits apiece and Catfish Hunter struggled to his sixth victory as the Yankees padded their American League East to five games over Baltimore. The defending champion Red Sox are seven games back.

Thurman Munson drove in two runs with a sacrifice fly and his seventh homer while Carlos May also had two RBIs with a double and a sacrifice fly. Hunter surrendered 10 hits, including Fred Lynn's third homer.

The game drew 35,939 spectators, largest Fenway Park crowd in 20 years. Play was stopped several times as the Yankees complained about firecrackers and other debris being thrown from the center field bleachers and the umpires warned of a possible forfeit. A recent meeting between the two long-time rivals in New York included a bench-clearing brawl.

Indians 4-4, Orioles 2-3

Larvell Blanks capped a three-run seventh-inning rally with a two-run homer in the nightcap after driving in two runs with a triple in the opener. Trailing 2-0, the Indians got moving in the seventh inning of the nightcap as Charlie Spikes doubled, went to third on a single by Alan Ashby and scored on Duane Kuiper's forceout. Blanks followed with his second home run of the year.

Besides Blanks' two-run triple in the opener, Rick Manning hit a solo homer.

A's 10, Royals 1

Designated hitter Billy Williams drove in five runs, three with a first-inning homer, while Mike Torrez went the distance, scattering eight hits and allowing only one unearned run. Loser Paul Splittorff walked three batters in the first inning. Bert Campaneris was caught stealing but the other two were aboard when Williams connected for his sixth homer of the season. The 37-year old Williams, on a hot streak, has three homers in his last three games and 11 RBIs in six games.

Tigers 5, Brewers 4

The Tigers rallied for two runs in the bottom of the 11th on a sacrifice fly by Ron LeFlore and a two-out single by Tom Verzer. Earlier, they rallied for two runs in the bottom of the ninth on Ben Oglivie's double and RBI singles by pinch hitter Mickey Stanley and Rusty Staub to tie the contest.

Rookie Mark Fidrych went all the way for Detroit. He scattered 11 hits, including a three-run homer by Don Money.

Phoenix Suns Ready For Showdown Game

PHOENIX (AP) — Curtis Perry, the only member of Phoenix' starting five from a year ago who still is in the opening lineup, typifies the team concept that has carried the surprising Suns into the championship round of the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The Suns, a club without a recognized superstar, will try to square their best-of-seven nationally televised final series against the Boston Celtics at 2-2 with a victory in Game Four Wednesday night at Veterans Memorial Coliseum. A fifth game will be at Boston Friday night.

Rutherford Wins Shortest 500

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "The Indianapolis 500 race day forecast calls for partly sunny skies and temperatures in the mid 70s."

That forecast, with little variation, has been the official National Weather service statement on race day weather since at least 1973. But in that time, it has managed to rain somehow every race day.

That was the forecast for Sunday's rain-washed, shortest-ever Indianapolis 500, won by Johnny Rutherford, right up until 30 minutes before the race, when most of the estimated 400,000 persons were already inside Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

A.J. Foyt, unsuccessfully seeking his fourth Indy victory for the ninth consecutive year, finished second, 15 seconds behind Rutherford and 1:30 in front of Gordon Johncock.

What is becoming known as the "Chamber of Commerce Weather Forecast" was defended Monday by the weather service as a legitimate forecast gone sour for the fourth year in a row.

"We changed the forecast about 10:30 a.m. yesterday to a 60 per cent chance of rain," said a weather service spokesman, who agreed to discuss the forecast Monday only after being assured the conversation would not be tape recorded.

"It was just one of those things," he said. "There was a lot of thunderstorm activity in Missouri and Illinois when I came on duty yesterday at 7 a.m. The activity hadn't shown any westward movement at all, but about that time, an extensive batch of it started moving eastward."

"That's about when we changed the forecast."

The spokesman also said he was in constant contact with officials at the speedway and warned them of the front.

"I kept telling them this first batch was gonna come in and then we would have just about two hours before the next batch of fairly heavy activity would come through," the spokesman said.

However, after the initial short shower that stopped the race after 255 miles, it was announced over the public address system that "Clear skies are on the way. We expect to be racing again shortly."

A press box bulletin from the track advised, "Rain is reported as having stopped as near as Brownsburg, 20 miles to the west. Radar shows nothing farther west, according to the weather bureau at 1:20 p.m."

That, of course, was completely different from what the weather bureau claims it said.

When the race was finally called after a second, heavier shower hit at 3:05 p.m., just after the field of cars had been ordered assembled for a restart, it was announced on the public address system, "There is heavy rain all over the area, and we have been advised there is no way to continue the race today. Therefore your 1976

Indianapolis 500 champion is Johnny Rutherford."

Following Johncock in the order of finish were Wally Dallenbach, Pancho Carter, Tom Sneva, Al Unser, Mario Andretti, Salt Walyther, Bobby Unser and Lloyd Ruby.

Jim Gilmore, sponsor of Foyt's car, said he felt officials were dallying in restarting the race, perhaps waiting on another batch of bad weather they knew was coming.

Burfeindt Wins LPGA Golf Clash

BALTIMORE (AP) — If Betty Burfeindt slips quietly back to the 16th green at the Pine Ridge Golf Course here the next time she's in town, it's understandable. She still can't believe the putt that gave her the 26th annual Ladies Professional Golf Association Championship.

"If I hit it the same way 20 times, it would probably never drop," the 30-year-old Miss Burfeindt said Sunday after posting her first tournament victory since 1973.

The winning 12-foot putt on the 16th, which left Miss Burfeindt beside herself trying to explain it, snapped a tie with Judy Rankin. Both competitors toured the municipal Pine Ridge course in two-under-par 71 Sunday and finished the final round of the 72-hole event the same way they started the day's play — one stroke apart.

The winner's 287 total was five strokes under par.

For a while, though, it appeared that a late rally would give Mrs. Rankin her third win at Pine Ridge in the last four years. Three down at the turn, she pulled even with birdies on the 12th and 13th holes following a bogey by Miss Burfeindt at No. 11.

But then came what the winner finally described as the miracle putt which nailed down the $8,000 first prize.

"When I hit it, I knew I missed it," she said. "I pushed it, sort of eased into it. The ball was two inches outside when it was only six inches from the cup, but it dove in — and I don't know how. There was no way that the ball was going to go against the grain ... but it did."

Miss Burfeindt's first prize gave her more than $46,000 for the season, while Mrs. Rankin added $5,650 to a tour-leading $61,191. Carole Jo Skala finished third, three shots off the pace at 290, while Jane Blalock, Jan Stephenson and Donna Young tied for fourth.

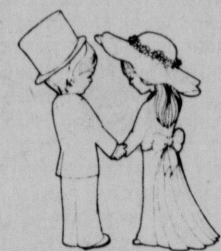

Top Hockey Players May Be Free Agents

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

The name of defenseman Bobby Orr heads an 82-member list of National Hockey League players whose contracts or option years expired today. At 9 a.m., EDT, this morning, the list was wired to each of the 18 member clubs.

Though the list is a guarded secret with league headquarters in Montreal, The Associated Press has collected 57 of the names.

Donnie Reece of Southern California returned 26 punts for 409 yards, a 15.7 per game average, in 1975.

A piece of the energy puzzle.

Inflation: enemy at sea.

We all know about inflation. Everything costs more than it did five years ago ... or two years ago.

Still, there are some things we can't do without. Inflation or no, we've got to go where the natural gas is ... like way out in the Gulf of Mexico.

For example: The rig Sedneth I is drilling for natural gas 100 miles off the Texas coast in 500 feet of water. Out there, the physical problems alone spell high stakes. But look what inflation is doing:

	1967	1976
Rig construction cost	$14,000,000	$30,000,000
Rental rate per day	15,000	25,000

The numbers are big. Here's an example that's easier to grasp. Common 9 5/8" well casing (pipe) cost $9 a foot six years ago. Today it costs $19 a foot! At an average depth of 11,000 feet, this means $110,000 more per well.

If gas is found out there, it'll take four to six years, working around the clock, before the gas can be delivered to your home. If inflation isn't brought under control, think what six years will do to our gas bills.

Worse yet, think of the cost of going without natural gas.

The winner's 287 total was five strokes under par.

For a while, though, it appeared that a late rally would give Mrs. Rankin her third win at Pine Ridge in the last four years. Three down at the turn, she pulled even with birdies on the 12th and 13th holes following a bogey by Miss Burfeindt at No. 11.

But then came what the winner finally described as the miracle putt which nailed down the $8,000 first prize.

"When I hit it, I knew I missed it," she said. "I pushed it, sort of eased into it. The ball was two inches outside when it was only six inches from the cup, but it dove in — and I don't know how. There was no way that the ball was going to go against the grain ... but it did."

Miss Burfeindt's first prize gave her more than $46,000 for the season, while Mrs. Rankin added $5,650 to a tour-leading $61,191. Carole Jo Skala finished third, three shots off the pace at 290, while Jane Blalock, Jan Stephenson and Donna Young tied for fourth.

Top Hockey Players May Be Free Agents

The name of defenseman Bobby Orr heads an 82-member list of National Hockey League players whose contracts or option years expired today. At 9 a.m., EDT, this morning, the list was wired to each of the 18 member clubs.

Though the list is a guarded secret with league headquarters in Montreal, The Associated Press has collected 57 of the names.

Donnie Reece of Southern California returned 26 punts for 409 yards, a 15.7 per game average, in 1975.

A piece of the energy puzzle.

Inflation: enemy at sea.

We all know about inflation. Everything costs more than it did five years ago ... or two years ago.

Still, there are some things we can't do without. Inflation or no, we've got to go where the natural gas is ... like way out in the Gulf of Mexico.

For example: The rig Sedneth I is drilling for natural gas 100 miles off the Texas coast in 500 feet of water. Out there, the physical problems alone spell high stakes. But look what inflation is doing:

	1967	1976
Rig construction cost	$14,000,000	$30,000,000
Rental rate per day	15,000	25,000

The numbers are big. Here's an example that's easier to grasp. Common 9 5/8" well casing (pipe) cost $9 a foot six years ago. Today it costs $19 a foot! At an average depth of 11,000 feet, this means $110,000 more per well.

If gas is found out there, it'll take four to six years, working around the clock, before the gas can be delivered to your home. If inflation isn't brought under control, think what six years will do to our gas bills.

Worse yet, think of the cost of going without natural gas.

Cathy Sill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Sill, 1021 Lynwood Ave., has been accepted at the University of Dayton, school of education, for the fall semester. She plans to major in home economics.

CATHY SILL

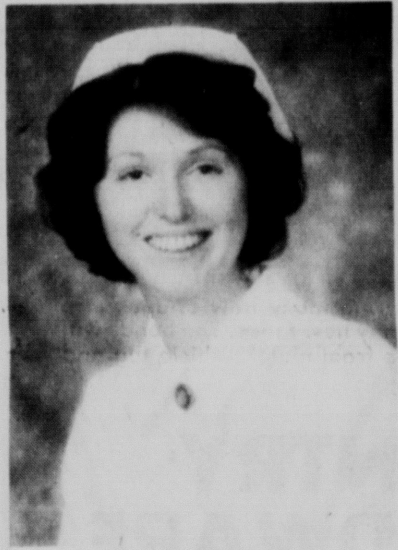

Miss Sill is a graduate of Bishop Flaget High School in Chillicothe.

During her high school years, she participated in Volunteers, Girl Scouts, CYO, French Club and was named to "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

Ann Yates participated in a weekend-long dance marathon recently at Denison University for Muscular Dystrophy research.

Miss Yates, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Yates, 126 E. Mound St., is a sophomore at Denison. She graduated from Circleville High School.

Wendy A. Neff, a 1973 graduate of Westfall High School, will graduate June 13 from the Mt. Carmel School of Nursing. The ceremonies honoring 70 graduates will be held at St. Joseph's Cathedral in Columbus. Miss Neff is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. William Neff, Route 1, Williamsport.

WENDY A. NEFF

During her senior year, she has been treasurer of Student Government, chairperson of Ways and Means, photographer for the yearbook staff and second vice president of the Student Nurses Association of Columbus. She has also worked part-time in the cardiac area unit as a ward clerk.

Miss Neff will be the 4-H camp nurse at Tar Hollow June 14 through July 20 and is planning to work at Children's Hospital starting in August.

Kim E. Allison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allison of 381 Kingston Pike has been initiated into Zeta Pi Lambda social sorority at Capital University.

Randy J. Swingly son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Swingly of North Canton, formerly of Circleville, and grandson of the Rev. and Mrs. L. S. Metzler, was graduated from the law school of the College of William and Mary at Williamsburg, Va. on May 16.

His parents and grandparents attended the graduation ceremony after touring Washington, D.C.

Patching ceremonies honoring 26 first-year medical assistant technology students were held recently at Hocking Technical College.

The students, who are completing their first year of the two-year associate degree program, received uniform patches designating them qualified medical assistant students.

Among those honored were Gail Maynard of Amanda.

The Hocking Tech medical assistant program includes training in both the clinical and administrative responsibilities of a physician's office. During their second year of training the students will receive guided experience in physicians' offices.

Two local students have been selected to serve as dormitory resident assistants at Capital University for the coming year. They are Teresa J. Ankrom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ankrom of 415 N. Pickaway St., and James M. Pabst, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pabst of Route 2, Canal Winchester.

Miss Ankrom is a junior at Capital where she is majoring in elementary education. She has been active in Zeta Pi Lambda social sorority, Resident Assistant Board and Commission of Residence Life.

Pabst is also a junior at Capital where he is majoring in math and physics. He has been active in the resident assistant board and is a lab assistant in physics.

The dormitory program is designed to assist underclassmen in residence hall life.

Resident assistants help initiate programs within their dormitories, serve as counselors and help maintain hall rules and regulations.

Ann J. Heffelfinger, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carl J. Heffelfinger 545 Green Acre Court, graduated cum laude from Wake Forest University on May 17. She was also honored with election to the Phi Alpha Theta history honor fraternity.

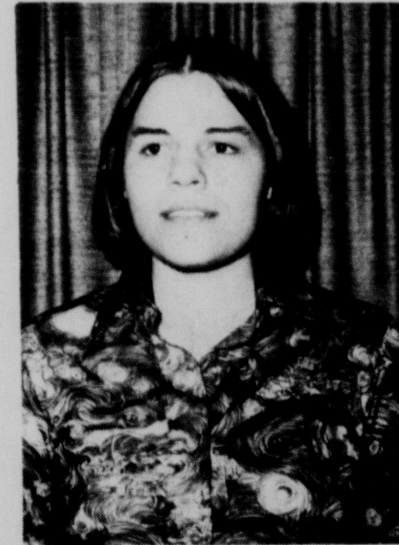

ANN J. HEFFELFINGER

Miss Heffelfinger is one of seven recipients of the Wake Forest College of Law full tuition scholarships. She will begin her legal studies this fall.

Jeffrey Dean Styers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Styers, former residents of Circleville, received his bachelor of arts degree in science from Salem College, Salem, W. Va. The Styers are presently residents of Puerto Rico.

Those attending the commencement ceremonies from Circleville were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Stauffer, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Smith and Mr. and Mrs. James Rooker.

Sue C. Heffelfinger, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carl J. Heffelfinger, 545 Green Acre Court, has been accepted into Alpha Epsilon scholastic honorary at Emory University.

SUE C. HEFFELFINGER

The honorary originated at Emory in 1906-07, and seeks to recognize those students who have shown outstanding scholastic achievement during their first five quarters of academic work at the university. New members were honored at a banquet on May 26.

A record number of 1,106 persons received degrees at Morehead State University's spring commencement, including two from Circleville.

Included were Daniel Lee Cooper,

AB, and Yvonne W. Cooper, AAS.

Rae Jean Armstrong, a sophomore at Ohio University's Chillicothe branch, is one of eight recipients of a full-tuition scholarship awarded annually to outstanding history majors.

The Harris Scholarship, based upon high academic performance, is funded in behalf of the late Dr. Wilmer C. Harris, former history department chairman, president of the Ohio District Teachers Association and managing editor of the "Ohio Teacher Magazine."

Mrs. Armstrong resides at 926 Circle Drive, with her husband and two sons, Gregory and Jarrod.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A weak cold front from Canada moved into northern Ohio today, bringing an end to the unsettled weather Ohioans experienced over the holiday weekend.

The front moved southward across the state ending showers over most of the state except in the southeast, where showers may linger into Wednesday.

Cooler readings accompanied the front. Highs today ranged from the mid 60s north to the low and mid 70s south. Overnight lows will be in the 50s. Cooler Wednesday with highs in the 60s or low 70s.

Worker Succumbs From 78-Foot Fall

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 26-year-old employee at the Ford Motor Co. plant in Brook Park died on the job Sunday in an industrial accident, police said.

Authorities said that John Kenney of Bay Village died while he and another worker were throwing scrap metal from the roof of the plant to a nearby scrap pile. The sharp edge of one large piece caught Kenney's glove and pulled him off the roof into a 78-foot fall, police said.

USDA Lags In Cutting Paperwork

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department, one of the government's most prolific seekers of information from the public, is lagging behind in a goal set by President Ford to reduce that kind of paper work 10 per cent by June 30.

As of March 31, with only three months to go, the department had cut its volume of questionnaires about 5.1 per cent. Last Oct. 31, the benchmark used for the campaign, the department was using 794 "repetitive" reports for gathering information from farmers and other citizens. The March 31 level was 754.

The paper-work progress figures were included in a recent report by the Office of Management and Budget in the White House.

When Ford earlier announced his campaign to reduce the reports, he said that "American citizens are understandably exasperated by the complexity of reporting to the federal government" and directed that agencies produce "prompt results" in reducing the volume of reports 10 per cent by June 30.

According to the report, only the Department of Health, Education and Welfare had more questionnaires than the Agriculture Department when the campaign began. But by March 31, HEW had increased its reports eight-tenths of 1 per cent to 966 from 958 last fall.

Juvenile Court Receives Grant

Senator Oakley C. Collins (R-Ironton) today reported that the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development has approved an $8,550 grant for the Pickaway County Juvenile Court.

The grant, which will be supplemented with $475 local funds, will be used to continue the juvenile delinquency program. The program is designed to prevent and control juvenile crimes and to reduce the numbers of repeat offenders among minors.

Funds for this program were awarded to Ohio under the federally approved provisions of Ohio's $21 million comprehensive Criminal Justice Plan for 1976.

Poisonous Plant Tips Given By OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — As the summer season approaches, two Ohio State University professors have some warnings about poisonous plants to stay away from—especially poison ivy.

That plant along with poison oak and sumac account for more skin problems than all other substances, says Dr. Jack Beal, OSU professor of pharmacy.

Dr. Philip Kozel, of the horticulture department, says poison oak and sumac aren't a problem in Ohio but warns that poison ivy is rampant now and will remain very infectious for the next several weeks.

"It is very succulent and growing fast," Dr. Kozel says. "And the problem is so many people think they recognize poison ivy when they don't."

He says varying growing conditions can cause it to take on several appearances.

Other poisonous plants to watch for include nightshades, water hemlock, Jerusalem cherries, and castor plants, Dr. Beal says.

The latter two are common houseplants and not dangerous unless the fruit is eaten. Nightshades grow in Ohio and the immature, pea-size fruit is especially toxic. Water hemlock root looks like that of the wild parsnip, he explained.

But poison ivy is the most widespread complaint of those in the outdoors even if not the most serious, the professor said.

The belief that some people are immune to poison ivy is a myth, Dr. Beal says. The degree of reaction to the plant varies. No one is 100 per cent immune, he added.

Also false is the thought that physical contact with the plant must occur for infection. The rash can be contracted by touching any object which has brushed against the plant—even the family dog, said Dr. Beal.

A soapy bath after contact won't help unless taken within five minutes and then only for those with a high degree of immunity. An hour after touching the weed, nothing much helps. It's wise to clean clothing so that reinfection doesn't take place, explained Dr. Beal.

Finally, Dr. Beal says, touching the fluid from blisters on an infected person will not give you the affliction nor will the fluid spread the problem around the body of the person with poison ivy.

What's to be done to avoid poison ivy infection? Stay away from it for one thing, the experts say. Another suggestion is to cover all the exposed areas of skin with a lather of yellow kitchen soap and let it dry.

You say you'd rather have poison ivy?

Memorial Day Bitter For Ohio Town

BEALLSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Time has not been merciful on Earl Pittman. It hasn't healed the emotional wounds of Vietnam.

The bitterness of this picturesque village of 500 in the meadowlands of southern Ohio brought nationwide attention during the height of the Vietnam War. Seven of its young men, all graduates of the same high school, died during the 10-year conflict. It was a high price for such a small town to pay.

One of those who died was Earl Pittman's son, Jack, 20, his only child.

On Monday, American Legion Post 768 gave a Memorial Day service and hardly anyone came. The service was held at a stone memorial at the face of the graveyard which was built only after the young men began dying in Vietnam.

"Where was it at?" asked the 55-year-old Pittman. "I didn't know about it."

The day before, on Sunday, the 30th of May, the traditional Memorial Day for years, Pittman puts flowers on his son's grave.

"That's about all I could do," he said.

It's been 10 years since his son died, and a year since Vietnam fell to the Communists.

"It's hard to forget," he said. "My only child. Yes, I'm bitter. Anybody would be. I feel he lost his life for nothing. We turned around and gave it all back to them. We might as well have given it to them to begin with."

Pittman said he also resents the 130,000 Vietnamese refugees who fled to the United States.

"I don't think they should have come," he said. "There's not enough work now, let alone bringing them here."

Pittman worked at an aluminum plant here. He sold his farm because he couldn't work and take care of it at the same time. But more than a year ago he was laid off.

There are no Vietnamese refugees here. The nearest are 20 miles away and Pittman read in a newspaper that one of them was working at an auto agency in neighboring Barnesville.

"They should give work to our own people instead of them," he said.

Robert Lucas, 45, is another father who lost his son in Vietnam. He has six other children ranging in age from 8 to 21. He didn't show up at the memorial service either.

"I just have other children here, a bunch of cattle to raise and a family to look after," he said.

Perhaps the memory is too painful for him.

"I knew about it," he said. "It just kind of bothers us and I just don't go."

"No, I'm not bitter. But what was the point? We didn't gain nothing, did we?"

Ken Rucker, 50, who has been disabled since 1969, lost his boy, Richard, 21. He was one of those who did attend the service and participated as a member of the post's squad that gave a 21-gun salute.

"I just thought a lot of my son," he said. "He doesn't even have a flag on his grave."

Even Mayor Elmer Howell and Village Council President Olis Thornberry were unaware there was a Memorial Day service.

Terry Hickman of the American Legion post said there was a breakdown in communications and the notice of the service didn't get into the local newspaper.

"It was nothing big," said Hickman. "There was no parade. There weren't over 50 people there. A lot of people didn't know about it."

"We wouldn't forget our dead. We never have and won't. It just wasn't a big affair as it has been. We used to have a parade and a guest speaker. In the past couple of years we haven't had much community involvement."

"I just think a lot of people really want to forget about Vietnam. There

Housing Regulations Not Enforced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a legal mandate to wipe out discrimination in home loans, three of the four federal agencies that regulate mortgage lenders have never even issued antidiscrimination regulations, the Senate Banking Committee says.

And "despite evidence that discrimination is widespread," none of them has ever found a single institution guilty of discrimination, the panel reported Monday.

Committee Chairman William Proxmire, D-Wis., called the agencies' record "a disgrace" and charged them with "eight years of outrageous inaction" since Congress passed the Fair Housing Act in 1968.

The agencies are the Home Loan Bank Board, the Federal Reserve Board, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. and the Comptroller of the Currency. Only the Home Loan Bank Board, which regulates savings and loan associations, has issued antidiscrimination rules, it said.

The board includes "a civilrights compliance review in (its) examinations, but even that review is largely a checklist that accepts the institution's own assessment of its performance," the panel said.

"The Federal Reserve Board and the FDIC have a more limited similar review. The Comptroller of the Currency does nothing more than check to see whether the 'Equal Lender' poster is displayed."

At hearings in March, the bank-regulatory agencies argued the 1968 act "did not require them to take affirmative action," the report said.

Proxmire charged, "As a consequence of the agencies' general nonenforcement policy, serious patterns of mortgageloan discrimination still exist. Surveys have shown that minority loan applicants with the same creditworthiness as other applicants are routinely rejected at much higher rates."

The nighthawk, a valuable insect eater, makes the longest migration of any North American bird.

IN THE INTEREST OF PICKAWAY COUNTY, I FAVOR THE FOLLOWING:

1. Improving the release of all the news coming from the Commissioner's office.
2. I favor selling of bonds to construct new bridges and widen the many narrow bridges we have in our county. This way the people can benefit from having many new bridges in a short time. This will not require any new taxes. The bonds will be retired from existing revenue from motor vehicle tag and gas tax fund over a period of years.
3. I favor earmarking a percentage of the Federal Revenue sharing monies to the County Health Department. This would relieve the Township Trustees from further money requests from the Health Department.
4. I favor setting up a county garbage and trash disposal. This should be a County owned and operated landfill operation with daily inspection by the Health Board. This will insure that the landfill can be operated at a cost all can afford.
5. I favor a committee from the many civic organizations in the county to advise and recommend people to the commissioners who would be qualified to serve on the many boards in the county.
6. I favor using the additional funds (approximately $200,000) that will be available to the General Fund of the County from the increased valuation of county property to be used primarily for capital improvements.
7. I will be as non-partisan in the conduct of County business as one possibly can be.

WORLD WAR I VETERANS — World War I veterans who attended the Memorial Day Service at Hitler Ludwig Cemetery were, from the left: Fred Boggs, Charles Radcliff, Paul Betts, Karl Herrmann and Alve May. May was the Grand Marshall of the annual parade in Circleville. The veterans were provided transportation during the parade by Jim Diltz, Stanley Spring, Clarence Radcliffe, Ned Dresbach, Ernest Taylor, The Rev. David Frazer and Ernil Stonerock.

Poisonous Plant Tips Given By OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — As the summer season approaches, two Ohio State University professors have some warnings about poisonous plants to stay away from—especially poison ivy.

That plant along with poison oak and sumac account for more skin problems than all other substances, says Dr. Jack Beal, OSU professor of pharmacy.

Dr. Philip Kozel, of the horticulture department, says poison oak and sumac aren't a problem in Ohio but warns that poison ivy is rampant now and will remain very infectious for the next several weeks.

"It is very succulent and growing fast," Dr. Kozel says. "And the problem is so many people think they recognize poison ivy when they don't."

He says varying growing conditions can cause it to take on several appearances.

Other poisonous plants to watch for include nightshades, water hemlock, Jerusalem cherries, and castor plants, Dr. Beal says.

The latter two are common houseplants and not dangerous unless the fruit is eaten. Nightshades grow in Ohio and the immature, pea-size fruit is especially toxic. Water hemlock root looks like that of the wild parsnip, he explained.

But poison ivy is the most widespread complaint of those in the outdoors even if not the most serious, the professor said.

The belief that some people are immune to poison ivy is a myth, Dr. Beal says. The degree of reaction to the plant varies. No one is 100 per cent immune, he added.

Also false is the thought that physical contact with the plant must occur for infection. The rash can be contracted by touching any object which has brushed against the plant—even the family dog, said Dr. Beal.

A soapy bath after contact won't help unless taken within five minutes and then only for those with a high degree of immunity. An hour after touching the weed, nothing much helps. It's wise to clean clothing so that recontamination doesn't take place, explained Dr. Beal.

Finally, Dr. Beal says, touching the fluid from blisters on an infected person will not give you the affliction nor will the fluid spread the problem around the body of the person with poison ivy.

What's to be done to avoid poison ivy infection? Stay away from it for one thing, the experts say. Another suggestion is to cover all the exposed areas of skin with a lather of yellow kitchen soap and let it dry.

You say you'd rather have poison ivy?

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): A good spot for your aggressiveness, your ingenuity and boundless ambitions. Do use them for sound purposes.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): It may not be easy to appreciate all suggestions and directives but, with all your strength and self-confidence, back those you know to be timely and well thought-out.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): A good day for finances. Outlook especially favorable if you are planning to launch long-range ventures.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Accent is on family relationships now. In fact, a parent or senior relative could give you some highly welcome encouragement; perhaps even financial help.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): One of those days in which your innate directness will not entirely pay off. If you need a favor, use a subtle and imaginative approach.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): A day of surprises! Not only will someone you've helped in the past return the favor but an added bonus "thrown in" will delight you.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Not a good day for trying to push pet schemes; for taking the initiative generally. Concentrate on routine activities.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Achievement will be largely up to yourself now. You won't have too much planetary help, but YOU can light the fires of enthusiasm and good will.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Talk over controversial issues in a businesslike, objective fashion, not permitting personalities to enter the fray. Pay no attention to those who dissent on "general principle."

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You won't find any hiding place for your problems, so you might just as well face up to them and work them out. But do so in a relaxed manner and with no anxiety.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You may be up against some unusual competition in your field, so keep your eye on the ball. With your fine intelligence, you should find ways to outrun the best.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Some misleading influences. Take all "inside information" and "sure tips" with the proverbial grain of salt.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely outgoing individual, always ready for action and never satisfied with mediocre accomplishment. Actually, you are a perfectionist at heart, but this constant striving for the highest degree of excellence often brings on anxieties and nervous tension. You MUST learn to relax. Governed by Mercury, you love to travel and, as a child of the 'winged messenger,' may have an absorbing interest in aviation or any branch of the communications media. You could also excel as an actor, musician, scientist, inventor or novelist. Birthdate of: Thomas Hardy, renowned Eng. author; Sir Edward Elgar, composer; Pope Pius X; Johnny Weissmuller, noted swimmer and film star ("Tarzan").

Mercenary Faces Trial In Angola

KENSINGTON, Md. (AP) — Daniel Gearhart, a 34-year-old Vietnam veteran, left his wife, four children and a mounting stack of bills last February to fight for pro-Western forces in Angola's civil war.

After less than a week in the war, Gearhart disappeared. His whereabouts were a mystery until April 1 when the victorious Soviet-backed revolutionary government of Angola announced he had been captured.

Gearhart and another captured American mercenary, Gary Acker of Sacramento, Calif., are scheduled to stand trial June 8 before a "people's revolutionary tribunal" in Angola. The State Department says there is "absolutely nothing the U.S. government can do" to bail them out.

Gearhart and Acker disappeared near the Zaire border while fighting for the National Front for the Liberation of Angola (FNLA).

In Kensington, a suburb of Washington, D.C., Sheila Gearhart waited in the three-bedroom home on a pleasant tree-lined street for word of her husband's fate. The money her husband had promised to send her never arrived, so she applied for welfare.

"I had almost accepted the fact that I would never see him again," Mrs. Gearhart said. "And then April 1, bam, your husband's been captured."

The new Angolan government said 13 captured mercenaries, including two Americans, would be tried by a 30-member "international free jury" composed of Angolans and their African and Cuban supporters.

Three weeks later, the Angolans said the trial would be conducted instead by an Angolan "people's revolutionary tribunal." They identified Gearhart and Acker as two of the defendants.

Gearhart's predicament has been extremely delicate for the U.S. government, which has no diplomatic relations with the Communist-backed government in Angola.

A State Department spokesman said that the government is relying on the International Red Cross to protect the prisoners' interests. To date, however, not even the Red Cross has seen the captured men.

A spokesman for the Central Intelligence Agency, which spent millions of dollars in Angola, said it has no information on the prisoners and "has only mild interest in the matter."

It is illegal to recruit mercenaries in the United States. It is also illegal for an American citizen to leave the country to fight in a foreign army, and conviction carries a $1,000 fine and up to three years in jail.

"There is absolutely nothing the U.S. government can do. They went over there in violation of American law and they happened to get caught," the State Department spokesman said.

Getty's 'Friend' Wants Marriage

LONDON (AP) — Rosabella Burch, the twice-married companion of J. Paul Getty, says in the British magazine Woman she wants to marry the 83-year-old, five times married American oil millionaire.

Getty, reputed to be the world's richest man, was quoted in the magazine story as saying he is "far too old" to wed again.

"Of course I want to marry him. I'd be lost in the world if anything happened to him," the Nicaraguan-born Mrs. Burch said in the magazine interview.

Mrs. Burch, 43, a former model, has known Getty for 15 years and lives in a cottage near the 70-room London mansion where Getty has lived the past 20 years.

Ford Plays Catch-Up In California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Ford's campaign team is playing catch-up against Ronald Reagan in California — with the added handicaps of a money shortage and an absent candidate.

Reagan claims a lead in the state that twice elected him governor. Ford strategists say they are behind but not out of range.

Paperwork Flood Fails To Abate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some government agencies are reducing their public questionnaires in response to White House orders to cut such paperwork, but other agencies actually have increased the number of their forms.

Some Firms Dickering With Castro

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite warnings from the State Department, some U.S. firms are discussing trade opportunities with Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government in Havana, a State Department spokesman says.

"We have discouraged these meetings," John Ordway said Monday. "We don't think they're in the best interests of the company or the countries involved."

The United States broke off all relations with Cuba in 1961 and imposed restrictions making it illegal for any U.S. company to conduct trade with Cuba or to sign contracts for trade.

"However, there is nothing illegal about discussing trade opportunities for when the embargo is lifted," Ordway said.

Ordway said the department was aware that meetings have been taking place in Havana but said he could not identify the companies or say how long the practice has been going on. "We have urged great caution to avoid violations of the law," he said.

The contacts were initially reported by Miami television station WCKT, which said at least four major U.S. corporations have sent representatives to Havana in recent months at the Castro government's expense to discuss possible business opportunities.

Quoting unidentified sources, WCKT said the firms included one each from New York, Texas, Georgia and Illinois. The station identified only one firm — Pepsi-Cola of New York.

U.S. Army Office Hit By Blasts

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — Two time bombs exploded in the headquarters of the U.S. Army V Corps in Frankfurt today, slightly injuring five persons, German police said.

A U.S. Army spokeswoman said the first blast went off on the first floor of the building at 1:20 p.m. and the other followed soon after on the steps to a service club.

"I was lifted well off my chair when the explosion occurred, but the windows on our wing of the building remained undamaged," she said. "In fact I noticed no damage on the outside of the building. However, I didn't dare walk right around through all the parked cars."

American Forces Network (AFN) in Frankfurt said glass littered the first floor hallway of the sprawling office building, light fixtures were smashed in the ceilings and windows were blown out by the blast.

The building was placed under reinforced security after a bombing attack four years ago but an informed source said "security has tapered off since then."

The earlier attack, on May 11, 1972, was blamed on the anarchist Baader-Meinhof gang. An American officer was killed and 13 persons were injured.

Ulrike Meinhof, a co-leader of the gang, hanged herself in a Stuttgart jail cell on May 10. Her death has sparked a rash of bombings and demonstrations in Germany and elsewhere in Europe. Other leaders of the gang are on trial.

"It would take either a big miracle or several small ones," one Ford campaign aide said. However, it usually takes money and the candidate's time to fashion an upset. In California, Reagan is campaigning hard, outspending the President, and Ford is not scheduled to return to the state before the voting on June 8.

10 per cent by June 30.

Last Oct. 31, these units were regularly circulating 5,133 such forms. The goal is to reduce them to 4,637.

But a recent report by the Office of Management and Budget in the White House said that by March 31 the reports still totaled 5,012 or a reduction of only 2.7 per cent from last fall.

When Ford announced his campaign last fall to reduce the reports, he said that "American citizens are understandably exasperated by the complexity of reporting to the federal government." The President directed that agencies produce "prompt results" in reducing the volume of reports.

One reason that progress has been slow is that new reports keep cropping up. For example, the OMB analysis said that in March some 147 forms were abandoned by the federal bureaucracy. But between March 16 and April 15, 79 new ones were put in operation.

According to the OMB report, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare had the most questionnaires when the campaign began. And by March 31, HEW had increased its reports eight-tenths of 1 per cent to 966 from 958.

Other major agencies which also increased their reports during the five-month period included the Commerce Department, 574 to 577; the Justice Department, 166 to 167, and the State Department, 31 to 32.

The Department of Transportation was the only major agency that met or exceeded Ford's reduction goal by March 31, trimming its reports 11 per cent from 299 to 266, according to the review.

The Agriculture Department, which ranked second only to HEW in original volume, had cut its questionnaires about 5.1 per cent, from 794 to 754.

Some of the new government forms include a new USDA annual report to determine the progress of providing school meals to needy children in cities of 100,000 or more. The Interior Department started a new questionnaire to find out more about the use of helium, and in the Defense Department, officials started one for gathering information about scrap paper.

Syria Sends More Troops To Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — About 7,000 Syrian troops with 150 tanks crossed Lebanon's eastern border today and began disarming Lebanese Moslems and Palestinian guerrillas, the Palestinian command reported.

Beirut newspapers said another Syrian force of 2,000 troops with 65 tanks invaded northern Lebanon to stop Moslem attacks on the besieged Christian towns of Qibyat and Andket, in the Akkar region.

Palestinian and Syrian sources in Beirut speculated that Syrian President Hafez Assad was starting an all-out attempt to impose order in Lebanon and end the 14-month-old civil war. However, no Syrian troops were seen in Beirut, and there was no independent confirmation of the reports of Syrian troop operations.

Some Palestinian sources said they have information Assad plans to send as many as 50,000 troops into Lebanon to stop the war by the end of the month.

Radio Damascus confirmed that Syrian intervention halted the attack on Qibyat and Andket but made no mention of troop movements. It said Syrian representatives arranged a cease-fire agreement in which the Christians agreed to Moslem occupation of the Lebanese army garrison at Andket.

Reporting the Syrian invasion from the east, a Palestinian statement said an armored brigade of 3,800 troops moved 14 miles from the border shortly before dawn and took positions on the north and west of the key mountain crossroads town of Chitoura, which is held by Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Army.

TV Board Seeks Tax Levy

The Teays Valley Board of Education will have a bond issue on the June 8 ballot for 5.70 mills. The issue is to provide for constructing, furnishing and equipping a seventh and eighth grade junior high building and also to provide for certain improvements on the present school property.

Presently, the Teays Valley High School houses all of the four high school grades plus the seventh and eighth grades and operates on a "split session" to accommodate the six grade levels. This operation has been in effect since the fall of 1971 and has resulted in limited five-hour schedules for the junior high students.

The levy as it will appear on the ballot calls for $4,750,000 at an average of 5.70 mills over a 20-year period.

Presently, the accepted tax rates for 1975, payable in 1976, total 23.50 mills for all school purposes in the Teays Valley District. If the levy should pass, that total rate would increase to 29.20 mills. The committee for the passage of the issue has compiled a list of data which shows that the state average for all school purposes is 34.54 mills.

Most Storms Subsiding Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms continued today in Texas, but have subsided over most other sections of the country.

Three tornadoes swooped down on south Central Texas during the night and thunderstorm activity early today increased in northwest Louisiana and sections of north and east Texas. The thunderstorms so far have produced only some strong winds and heavy rains.

Other thunderstorms during the late evening roamed across central Illinois and northern Kentucky into Indiana and eastern Ohio to West Virginia, some also continued over the gulf states.

Across the nation, there were a total of eleven tornadoes reported Monday including eight in Texas, two in Illinois and one in Florida.

Temperatures around the nation at early this morning ranged from 37 at Olympia, Wash., to 82 at Needles and Blythe, both in Calif.

The forecast for today is rain-showers over the Pacific Northwest coast and scattered into the southwest portion of Idaho. Rain showers and occasional thunder storms will extend from New England through the lower Great Lakes, over the Ohio Valley, along the Appalachians into the lower Mississippi Valley and the Texas coastal plains. Showers will be scattered along the Gulf of Mexico coast, over Florida and along the Atlantic coastal states. Temperatures will be warm from Maryland, along the Atlantic Coast states. It will be cool in the Pacific Northwest into the northern Intermountain region.

Elsewhere temperatures will be seasonably mild.

Kroger helps Mini-Mize your food costs! Prove it to yourself . . .

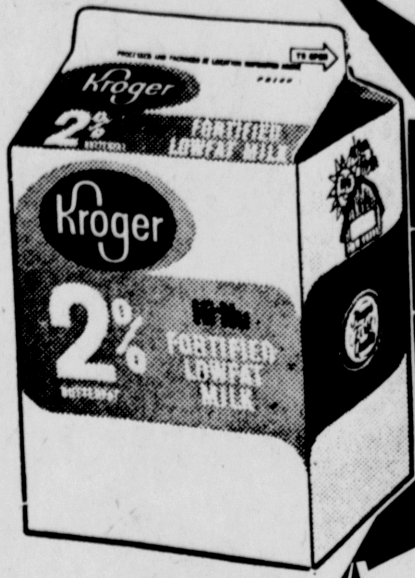

MAKE THE MINI-MIZER TEST!

1 BUY THIS WEEK'S GROCERIES AT KROGER
And while you're at our store, pick up one of our handy Mini-Mizer pocket adders for only 77¢.

2 CHECK AT ANY OTHER FOOD STORE YOU LIKE.
Use your Mini-Mizer to add up that store's total for the same items you just bought at Kroger.

3 COMPARE THE TOTALS.
We believe Kroger's total will be lower. But if you have any doubts, invest 77¢ and an hour of your time in making the test. See how much you can save, and settle any doubts for sure.

MILK
We are often asked at Kroger why our milk stays fresh and good for so much longer than milk sold in the "olden days." The answer is simple. First is the purity of the milk itself. Kroger dairies are among the most modern in the United States... and our milk is processed under strict sanitary conditions and quality control that would not have been possible a few years back. By government regulation, nothing can be added to help keep milk fresh.
The second secret is constant refrigeration. The freshness and quality of milk is directly related to the temperature at which it is stored. Don't let milk sit in the back of your car while you do other shopping... and don't let it sit on the counter during dinner. The ideal milk storage temperature is between 33° and 40°. As the temperature goes up, the length of time it will stay fresh goes down.
Among the consumer information aids you'll find on Kroger milk cartons is Nutrition Labeling. This lists the calories, carbohydrates, fats and protein in an average serving, along with the percentage of the RDA (Recommended Daily Allowance) of protein and seven essential vitamins and minerals. To help consumers further, Kroger Milk is open-dated to assure you a normal usage time after you buy it and carry it home (at least five days when properly refrigerated).
We hear you and we're trying to help!
